Civilisation in China, Part 1, Paper and Printing Joseph Needham, Tsien Tsuen-Hsueh, 1956-07-11 Part one of the fifth volume of Joseph Needham's great enterprise is written by one of the project's collaborators Professor Tsien Tsuen Hsueh working in regular consultation with Dr Needham has written the most comprehensive account of every aspect of paper and printing in China to be published in the West From a close study of the vast mass of source material Professor Tsien brings order and illumination to an area of technology which has been of profound importance in the spread of civilisation The main body of the book is a detailed study of the invention technology and aesthetic development of printing in China From the growth and ultimate refinements of early woodcut printing to the spread of printing from movable type and the development of book binding Professor Tsien carries the story forward to the beginning of the nineteenth century when more printed pages existed in Chinese than in all other languages put together

The Book Worlds of East Asia and Europe, 1450-1850

Joseph P. McDermott, Peter Burke, 2015-10-01 This volume provides the first comparative survey of the relations between the two most active book worlds in Eurasia between 1450 and 1850 Prominent scholars in book history explore different approaches to publishing printing and book culture They discuss the extent of technology transfer and book distribution between the two regions and show how much book historians of East Asia and Europe can learn from one another by raising new questions exploring remarkable similarities and differences in these regions production distribution and consumption of books The chapters in turn show different ways of writing transnational comparative history Whereas recent problems confronting research on European books can instruct researchers on East Asian book production so can the privileged role of noncommercial publications in the East Asian textual record highlight for historians of the European book the singular contribution of commercial printing and market demands to the making of the European printed record Likewise although production growth was accompanied in both regions by a wider distribution of books woodblock technology's simplicity and mobility allowed for a shift in China of its production and distribution sites farther down the hierarchy of urban sites than was common in Europe And the different demands and consumption practices within these two regions expanding markets led to different genre preferences and uses as well as to the growth of distinctive female readerships A substantial introduction pulls the work together and the volume ends with an essay that considers how these historical developments shape the present book worlds of Eurasia This splendid volume offers expert new insight into the ways of producing financing distributing and reading printed books in early modern Europe and East Asia This is comparative history at its best which leaves us with a better understanding of each context and of the challenges common to book cultures across space and time Ann Blair author of Too Much to Know Managing Scholarly Information before the Modern Age and professor of history Harvard University This engrossing account of the history of the book by leading specialists on the European and East Asian publishing worlds takes stock of what we know and how much we still need to know about the places that books had in the lives of our early modern forebears Each chapter is masterful state of the field coverage of its subject and together they set a new standard for future studies of the book East and West Timothy Brook author of The Troubled Empire China in the Yuan and Ming Dynasties      Oriental and Occidental Culture Maurice Parmelee,1928      Public Libraries ,1926      Chinese History Endymion Porter Wilkinson,2000 Endymion Wilkinson s bestselling manual of Chinese history has long been an indispensable guide to all those interested in the civilization and history of China In this latest edition now in a bigger format its scope has been dramatically enlarged by the addition of one million words of new text Twelve years in the making the new manual introduces students to different types of transmitted excavated and artifactual sources from prehistory to the twentieth century It also examines the context in which the sources were produced preserved and received the problems of research and interpretation associated with them and the best most up to date secondary works Because the writing of history has always played a central role in Chinese politics and culture special attention is devoted to the strengths and weaknesses of Chinese historiography      Beyond Sinology Andrea Bachner,2014-01-21 New communication and information technologies remain challenging for the Chinese script which unlike alphabetic or other phonetic scripts relies on multiple signifying principles In recent decades this multiplicity has generated a rich corpus of reflection and experimentation in literature film visual and performance art and design and architecture both within China and different parts of the West Approaching this history from alternative theoretical perspectives this volume pinpoints the phenomena binding languages scripts and medial expressions to cultural and national identity Through a complex study of intercultural representations exchanges and tensions the text focuses on the concrete scripting of identity and alterity advancing a new understanding of the links between identity and medium and a new critique of articulations that rely on single monolithic and univocal definitions of writing      Books on Printers and Printing, Bibliography, Manuscripts, Bookbinding Maggs Bros,1926
