The Keeping Of Animals Adaptation And Social Relations In Livestock Producing Communities:

The Keeping of Animals Riva Berleant-Schiller, Eugenia Shanklin, 1983 , Teaching the Animal: The Social Sciences , Black Ranching Frontiers Andrew Sluyter, 2012-10-30 DIV In this groundbreaking book Andrew Sluyter demonstrates for the first time that Africans played significant creative roles in establishing open range cattle ranching in the Americas In so doing he provides a new way of looking at and studying the history of land labor property and commerce in the Atlantic world div DIV Sluyter shows that Africans ideas and creativity helped to establish a production system so fundamental to the environmental and social relations of the American colonies that the consequences persist to the present He examines various methods of cattle production compares these methods to those used in Europe and the Americas and traces the networks of actors that linked that Atlantic world The use of archival documents material culture items and ecological relationships between landscape elements make this book a methodologically and substantively original contribution to Atlantic African American and agricultural history div Teaching the Animal , Cattle Bring Us to Our Enemies J. Terrence McCabe, 2010-02-11 An in depth look at the ecology history and politics of land use among the Turkana pastoral people in Northern Kenya Based on sixteen years of fieldwork among the pastoral Turkana people McCabe examines how individuals use the land and make decisions about mobility livestock and the use of natural resources in an environment characterized by aridity unpredictability insecurity and violence The Turkana are one of the world s most mobile peoples but understanding why and how they move is a complex task influenced by politics violence historical relations among ethnic groups and the government as well as by the arid land they call home As one of the original members of the South Turkana Ecosystem Project McCabe draws on a wealth of ecological data in his analysis His long standing relationship with four Turkana families personalize his insights and conclusions inviting readers into the lives of these individuals their families and the way they cope with their environment and political events in daily life J Terrence McCabe is Associate Professor of Anthropology University of Colorado at Boulder Social Zooarchaeology Nerissa Russell, 2011-11-14 This is the first book to provide a systematic overview of social zooarchaeology which takes a holistic view of human animal relations in the past Until recently archaeological analysis of faunal evidence has primarily focused on the role of animals in the human diet and subsistence economy This book however argues that animals have always played many more roles in human societies as wealth companions spirit helpers sacrificial victims totems centerpieces of feasts objects of taboos and more These social factors are as significant as taphonomic processes in shaping animal bone assemblages Nerissa Russell uses evidence derived from not only zooarchaeology but also ethnography history and classical studies to suggest the range of human animal relationships and to examine their importance in human society Through exploring the significance of animals to ancient humans this book provides a richer picture of past societies Culture and the Changing Environment Michael J. Casimir, 2009 Today human ecology has split into many different sub disciplines such as historical ecology political ecology or the New Ecological Anthropology The latter in particular has criticised the predominance of the Western view on different ecosystems arguing that culture specific world views and human environment interactions have been largely neglected However these different perspectives only tackle specific facets of a local and global hyper complex reality In bringing together a variety of views and theoretical approaches these especially commissioned essays prove that an interdisciplinary collaboration and understanding of the extreme complexity of the human environment interface s is possible

Human-Animal Studies Margo DeMello,2012-04 An exhaustive listing of books journals articles films conferences college programs organizations and websites from the new and exciting discipline of Human Animal studies The information was gathered by leading academics in the humanities the social sciences and the natural sciences this is the only reference of its kind This project was completed in conjunction with the book Teaching the Animal Juris Zoology Geordie Duckler,2022-03-14 This book exists at the intersection of two complementary and conflicting perspectives law and biology From the vantage point of both disciplines Juris Zoology provides a comprehensive and realistic framework to objectively assess the role and significance of animals in American civil and criminal law Contrasting the views of animal rights activists Duckler examines animals in terms of their prehistory history biology social utility economic effect and aesthetic value Focusing on animal captivity control use and value Duckler refutes the proposal of granting animal s legal rights The book offers a new and controversial voice to the national conversation on the propriety of animal rights and would be of interest to lawyers economists sociologists as well as scholars and professionals in animal related fields

Animal Agriculture and Natural Resources in Central America: Strategies for Sustainability , Geographies of Race and Food Rachel Slocum,Arun Saldanha,2016-04-15 While interest in the relations of power and identity in food explodes a hesitancy remains about calling these racial What difference does race make in the fields where food is grown the places it is sold and the manner in which it is eaten How do we understand farming and provisioning tasting and picking eating and being eaten hunger and gardening better by paying attention to race This collection argues there is an unacknowledged racial dimension to the production and consumption of food under globalization Building on case studies from across the world it advances the conceptualization of race by emphasizing embodiment circulation and materiality while adding to food advocacy an antiracist perspective it often lacks Within the three socio physical spatialities of food fields bodies and markets the collection reveals how race and food are intricately linked An international and multidisciplinary team of scholars complements each other to shed light on how human groups become entrenched in myriad hierarchies through food at scales from the dining room and market stall to the slave trade and empire Following foodways as they constitute racial formations in often surprising ways the chapters achieve a novel approach to the process of race as one that cannot be reduced to biology culture or capitalism Calling the Station Home Michèle D. Dominy, 2001 Combining historical literary and ethnographic approaches Calling the Station Home draws a fine grained portrait of New Zealand high country farm families whose material culture social arrangements geographic knowledge and linguistic practices reveal the ways in which the social production of space and the spatial construction of society are mutually constituted The book speaks directly to national and international debates about cultural legitimacy indigenous land claims and environmental resource management by highlighting settler descendant expressions of belonging and indigeneity in the white British diaspora

Sustainable Development in Third World Countries Valentine U. James, 1996-02-13 Sustainable development has been approached from many viewpoints over the past 15 years without a concise or precise definition of what sustainable development really stands for James has solicited contributions from an international group of experts who write about aspects of sustainable development from many different disciplines Their consensus is that sustainability depends upon concerted development across the spectrum of socioeconomic factors that affect the environment natural resources health education and welfare of the populations in the emerging nations The necessity of incorporating indigenous knowledge with technological and international expertise has become crucial Archaeology in Dominica Mark W. Hauser, Diane Wallman, 2020-10-13 This volume examines the everyday lives of enslaved and free workers at Morne Patate an eighteenth and nineteenth century Caribbean plantation helping document the under represented history of slavery and colonialism on the edge of the British Empire Health and Development in a Rural Kenyan Community Jean Mable Brainard, 1991 Based on original anthropological fieldwork and extensive archival research this timely book describes in detail the development of an irrigation project in Turkana District Kenya a semi desert area where serious drought and famine have been common throughout this century A wide spectrum of demographic and health parameters are estimated for the irrigation project community to assess the public health impact of both planned and unintentional environmental and cultural changes that accompanied development This monograph is of great interest to anthropologists africanists demographers and the public health community and of special relevance to development planners in other drought stressed areas of tropical Africa Sacred Killing Anne Porter, Glenn M. Schwarz, 2012-09-24 What is sacrifice How can we identify it in the archaeological record And what does it tell us about the societies that practice it Sacred Killing The Archaeology of Sacrifice in the Ancient Near East investigates these and other questions through the evidence for human and animal sacrifice in the Near East from the Neolithic to the Hellenistic periods Drawing on sociocultural anthropology and history in addition to archaeology the book also includes evidence from ancient China and a riveting eyewitness account and analysis of sacrifice in contemporary India which engage some of the key issues at stake Sacred Killing vividly presents a variety of methods and theories in the study of one of the most profound and disturbing ritual activities humans have ever practiced Barbuda Sophia Perdikaris, Rebecca Boger, 2022-12-27 This volume explores a range of themes including impacts of climate change resilience sustainability indigeneity cultural genocide disaster capitalism preservation of biodiversity and environmental degradation Focusing on the island of Barbuda in the West Indies it shares critical insights into how climate change is reshaping our world The book examines how climate has changed in the Caribbean over different spatial and temporal scales and how varying natural and anthropogenic factors have shaped Barbuda s climatic and cultural history It highlights projections of 21st century climate change for the Caribbean region and its likely impacts on Barbuda s coastal ecosystems potable groundwater resources and heritage With essays by researchers from the United States Canada Caribbean and Europe this volume straddles a range of disciplines such as archaeology anthropology paleoclimatology environmental sciences science education and Traditional Ecological Knowledge TEK Drawing on interdisciplinary and transdisciplinary approaches that explore the intersection of natural and social systems over the longue dur e the volume will be of interest to scholars researchers and students of ethnography social anthropology climate action development studies public policy and climate change

In the Shadow of Slavery Judith Carney, 2011-02-01 The transatlantic slave trade forced millions of Africans into bondage Until the early nineteenth century African slaves came to the Americas in greater numbers than Europeans In the Shadow of Slavery provides a startling new assessment of the Atlantic slave trade and upends conventional wisdom by shifting attention from the crops slaves were forced to produce to the foods they planted for their own nourishment Many familiar foods millet sorghum coffee okra watermelon and the Asian long bean for example are native to Africa while commercial products such as Coca Cola Worcestershire Sauce and Palmolive Soap rely on African plants that were brought to the Americas on slave ships as provisions medicines cordage and bedding In this exciting original and groundbreaking book Judith A Carney and Richard Nicholas Rosomoff draw on archaeological records oral histories and the accounts of slave ship captains to show how slaves food plots botanical gardens of the dispossessed became the incubators of African survival in the Americas and Africanized the foodways of plantation societies
