Nolo's IEP Guide Lawrence M. Siegel,2020-06-01 How to advocate for your child s education Many children have learning disabilities and it's up to parents and schools to work together to ensure that each child's unique educational needs are met. But what if the school disagrees with your goals for your child? You are at a disadvantage if you don't know the law. This book teaches you to identify a learning disability, understand your child's rights to education, untangle eligibility rules and evaluations, prepare and make your best case to school administrators, develop IEP goals and advocate for their adoption, and explore and choose the best programs and services. Written by an expert who's fought for kids for many years, the 8th edition includes summaries of important court decisions and expanded information on independent evaluations and bullying, and provides the forms, sample letters, resources, and encouragement you need. With Downloadable Forms, download forms, letters, and resources details inside.

Handbook of Applied Developmental Science in Sub-Saharan Africa Amina Abubakar, Fons J.R. van de Vijver, 2017-11-17. This handbook collates research evidence and presents the most up-to-date findings on child development in Sub-Saharan Africa. It discusses complex risk factors and medical conditions affecting childhood outcomes and spotlights emerging programs for enhancing literacy and cognitive development. The panel of expert contributors offer needed context and knowledge to the discussion of previously understudied topics. Chapters present proven intervention strategies currently in use across the diverse region. In addition, this handbook provides guidelines for culturally sensitive and ethical research that will inform practice and help shape policy goals and initiatives. Topics featured in the Handbook include: Fatherhood in the African context; Sibling care giving and its implications in Sub-Saharan Africa; Nutritional status, infections, and child development; Diabetes in Sub-Saharan African children; How to adapt tests for Sub-Saharan Africa; Interventions aimed at children and caregivers; A culturally sensitive approach to conducting research and promoting initial literacy development in Africa. The Handbook of Applied Developmental Science in Sub-Saharan Africa is a must-have resource for researchers, professionals, scientists, practitioners, and graduate students in child, school, and developmental psychology, as well as pediatrics, social work, public health, and education.

A Parent's Guide to the Internet Natalie Walker Whitlock, 2003. Called the most important human invention since fire, the Internet has rapidly transformed our society. For the children of today, there has never been a world without the Internet; it is as much a part of normal life as trips to the library were for their parents. Readers do not need any special background or experience with the Internet to get the full benefit of this book. A Parent's Guide to the Internet, 2nd Edition, offers readers fun educational projects to do with their children, as well as background information on websites, email, instant messaging, chat rooms, and more. The American Library Association calls the book an imaginative and valuable resource.

Book jacket: Teaching Children to Read Douglas Ray Reutzel, Robert B. Cooter, 2004. For Elementary Reading Methods courses. This comprehensive and balanced look at literacy practice has long been one of the most popular reading methods texts available. The text begins by introducing seven principles for comprehensive reading instruction and then explains the theoretical foundations of teaching reading. Part I builds on those foundations with specific methods; in Part II and then in Part III, it describes how to create a variety of learning centers and how to plan developmentally appropriate reading curriculum for students in both K 3 and 4 8 classrooms chapters 12 and 13 provide a continuum of knowledge by describing classroom organization and curriculum for grades 4 6 and 6 8
