Poe, 2018-03-23 The Raven and The Philosophy of Composition is an 1846 essay written by American writer Edgar Allan Poe

that elucidates a theory about how good writers write when they write well He concludes that length unity of effect and a logical method are important considerations for good writing He also makes the assertion that the death of a beautiful woman is unquestionably the most poetical topic in the world Poe uses the composition of his own poem The Raven as an example The essay first appeared in the April 1846 issue of Graham s Magazine It is uncertain if it is an authentic portrayal of Poe s own method Generally the essay introduces three of Poe s theories regarding literature The author recounts this idealized process by which he says he wrote his most famous poem The Raven to illustrate the theory which is in deliberate contrast to the spontaneous creation explanation put forth for example by Coleridge as an explanation for his poem Kubla Khan Poe s explanation of the process of writing is so rigidly logical however that some have suggested the essay was meant as a satire or hoax The three central elements of Poe s philosophy of composition are Poe believed that all literary works should be short There is he writes a distinct limit to all works of literary art the limit of a single sitting He especially emphasized this rule with regards to poetry but also noted that the short story is superior to the novel for this reason Poe dismissed the notion of artistic intuition and argued that writing is methodical and analytical not spontaneous He writes that no other author has yet admitted this because most writers would positively shudder at letting the public take a peep behind the scenes at the fully matured fancies discarded in despair at the cautious selections and rejections In the essay Poe traces the logical progression of his creation of The Raven as an attempt to compose a poem that should suit at once the popular and the critical taste
