The Politics Of Belonging Nationalism Liberalism And Pluralism

Franco Zappettini

The Politics Of Belonging Nationalism Liberalism And Pluralism:

The Politics of Belonging Alain Dieckhoff, 2004 The resurgence of nationalism in the nineties has led to the development of a growing body of literature on the many dimensions of this modern phenomena Nationalism has drawn a new kind of scholarly attention first in the social sciences and then in moral and political philosophy It is unfortunate however that most of the stimulating debates around the subject have been limited by individual disciplinary boundaries The Politics of Belonging Nationalism Liberalism and Pluralism represents the opening of a dialogue between the social sciences the moral and political philosophers It also bridges the North Atlantic opening a discussion between Europeans and North Americans who study nationalism Authors in this volume deal with two main questions the linkage between political liberalism and nationalism and the challenge of pluralism Alain Dieckhoff has brought together an impressive group of contributors who together carry out an incisive investigation into these debates which are decisive for fostering democracy in modern nation states This volume is an indispensable resource for anyone dealing with questions of identity ethnicity and nationalism

Indigenous Legal Traditions Law Commission of Canada, 2008-01-01 Although Indigenous peoples had their own systems of law based on their social political and spiritual traditions under colonialism their legal systems have often been ignored or overruled by non Indigenous laws Today however these legal traditions are being reinvigorated and recognized as vital for the preservation of the political autonomy of Aboriginal nations and the development of healthy communities The essays in this book present important perspectives on the role of Indigenous legal traditions in reclaiming and preserving the autonomy of Aboriginal communities and in reconciling the relationship between these communities and Canadian governments Contributors include Andr e Lajoie Minnawaanagogiizhigook Dawnis Kennedy Ghislain Otis Ted Palys and Wenona Victor Paulette Regan and Perry Shawana Common threads linking the essays include the relationship between Indigenous and Canadian legal orders the importance of Indigenous legal traditions for Aboriginal communities autonomy and the ways in which these traditions might be recognized and given space in the Canadian legal landscape In its examination of different aspects of and models for the recognition of Indigenous legal orders this book addresses important issues relating to legal pluralism It will be of interest to a wide audience including lawyers and legal academics teachers students policy makers and members of Aboriginal communities

The Politics of Belonging Alain Dieckhoff, 2004-01-01 The Politics of Belonging represents an innovative collaboration between political theorists and political scientists for the purposes of investigating the liberal and pluralistic traditions of nationalism Alain Dieckhoff introduces an indispensable collection of work for anyone dealing with questions of identity ethnicity and nationalism After Yugoslavia R. Hudson, G. Bowman, 2011-11-22 An investigation of recent developments and trends within the Yugoslav successor states since the signing of the Dayton Agreements in Autumn 1995 This book offers a distinctive and desirable perspective on the seven successor states their cultures politics and identities by providing an internal perspective on the region and its developments

The Routledge Companion to Social and Political Philosophy Gerald F. Gaus, Fred D'Agostino, 2013 This comprehensive work provides an up to date survey of social and political philosophy charting its history and key figures and movements and addressing enduring questions as well as contemporary research

A Political Theory of Territory Margaret Moore, 2017-08 Margaret Moore offers a comprehensive normative theory of territory She provides an account both of the nature of rights to territory and of the nature of the right holder considering the arguments that might justify state territory as well as the appropriate relationship between the state the people and the land implied by that justificatory argument

European Identities in Discourse Franco Zappettini, 2019-05-02 Based on empirical research this book closely analyses how European identities are discursively produced It focuses on discourse from members of a civic association active in promoting democracy and attempting participation in the transnational public sphere Unlike previous books that have addressed the question of European identity from top down stances or through methodological nationalism this book engages with the multifaceted concept of transnationalism as a key to the negotiation of glocal identities Applying a discourse historical approach DHA through a transnational reading it shows how grassroots actors speakers construct their different cultural and political affiliations as both world and European citizens They negotiate institutional identities and historical discourses of nationhood through new forms of mobility cultural diversity and the imagination of Europe as a proxy for a cosmopolitan civil society These discourses are ever more important in a fractured and polarised Europe falling prey to contrary discourses of nationhood and ethnic solidarity Highlighting how transnational narratives of solidarity and the de territorialisation of civic participation can impact on the re imagination of the European community beyond tropes like Fortress Europe or intragovernmental politics this important book shows how identification processes must be read through historical and global as well as localised contexts

Restructuring Relations Rauna Kuokkanen, 2019-03-01 Adopted in 2007 the UN Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples establishes self determination including free prior and informed consent as a foundational right and principle Self determination both individual and collective is among the most important and pressing issues for Indigenous women worldwide Yet Indigenous women s interests have been overlooked in the formulation of Indigenous self government and existing studies of Indigenous self government largely ignore issues of gender As such the current literature on Indigenous governance conceals patriarchal structures and power that create barriers for women to resources and participation in Indigenous societies Drawing on Indigenous and feminist political and legal theory as well as extensive participant interviews in Canada Greenland and Scandinavia this book argues that the current rights discourse and focus on Indigenous state relations is too limited in scope to convey the full meaning of self determination for Indigenous peoples The book conceptualizes self determination as a foundational value informed by the norm of integrity and suggests that Indigenous self determination cannot be achieved without restructuring all relations of domination nor can it be secured in the absence of gender justice As a foundational value self determination seeks to restructure all relations of domination not only hegemonic relations with the state. Importantly it challenges the opposition between self determination and gender created and maintained by international law. Indigenous political discourse and Indigenous institutions. Restructuring relations of domination further entails examining the gender regimes present in existing Indigenous self government institutions, interrogating the relationship between Indigenous self determination and gender violence and considering future visions of Indigenous self determination such as repatriation of Indigenous governance and an independent statehood. Restructuring Relations Rauna Johanna Kuokkanen, 2019. Self determination foundational value. Indigenous self government structures in Canada, Greenland and S pmi. Implementing indigenous self determination self administration, repatriation or independence. Gendering indigenous self government. Self determination and violence against indigenous women. Indigenous gender justice as restructuring relations. Postcolonial Transitional Justice Khanyisela Moyo, 2019-05-31. Transitional justice processes are now considered to be crucial steps in facilitating the move from conflict or repression to a secure democratic future. This book contributes to a deeper understanding of transitional justice by examining the complexities of transition in postcolonial societies. It focuses particularly on Zimbabwe but draws on relevant comparative material from other postcolonial polities. Examples include but are not limited to African countries such as South Africa, Rwanda and Mozambique. European societies such as Northern Ireland as well as other nations such as Guatemala are also considered. While amplifying the breadth of the subject of transitional justice, the book addresses the claim that transitional justice mechanisms in postcolonial countries are necessary if the rule of law and the credibility of the country's legal institutions are to be restored. Drawing on postcolonial legal theory and especially on analyses of the relationship between international law and imperialism, the book challenges the assumption that a domestic rule of law deficit may be remedied with recourse to international law. Taking up the paradigmatic perception that international law is neutral and has fixed rules, it demonstrates how complex issues which arise during postcolonial transitions require a more critical adoption of transitional justice mechanisms.
