The Neglected Majority:

Educating the Neglected Majority Richard A. Jarrell, 2016-07-01 A history of the heroic and sometimes abortive efforts to provide education for farmers and tradespeople in Victorian central Canada      The neglected majority Susan Mann Trofimenkoff, 1977      The Neglected Majority Dale Parnell, 1985 Designed for high school and community college leaders this book examines a number of issues related to student success learning continuity individual differences and the lack of community college involvement in secondary education and offers a proposal for increasing high school community college program cooperation and coordination After chapter I examines some dilemmas faced by educators in defining excellence chapter II looks at the effects of technological educational and socio economic tensions on educational excellence Chapter III highlights such barriers to excellence as unfocused learning loss of continuity in learning failure to accommodate individual differences and unfounded images about learning Chapter IV offers a model of careers education as a learner centered bridge between subject matter disciplines and the competencies required by modern life In chapter V the Opportunity with Excellence philosophy is proposed as the basis for the community college mission and a policy statement for the associate degree is presented as developed by the American Association of Community and Junior Colleges After chapter VI underscores the importance of cooperation and coordination between the high school and the community college offering examples of successful efforts around the nation chapter VII delineates the assumptions and characteristics of a 2 2 Tech Prep Associate Degree Program which blends the liberal and practical arts in a coordinated program that begins during the last 2 years of high school and culminates with an associate degree Finally suggestions for cultivating excellence are presented LAL      The Neglected Majority Interbook, Incorporated, 1977      The Neglected Majority , 1985      Life Spaces Caroline Andrew, Beth Moore Milroy, 2011-11-01 Written by some of Canada's top researchers in the field the articles in this collection introduce a new chapter in feminist literature focusing on women and their experiences in Canadian urban settings and illustrating the importance of gender in the development of urban areas While the articles represent diverse approaches and methodologies they all point out that the specific needs of women are not being met and that women must create opportunities for democratic participation in the institutions that affect their lives In the introduction the editors develop the broad area of gender relations in urban society and describe how this field of study has evolved in Canada The following seven chapters deal with women's experiences in the city emphasizing the complex interrelations between individuals and their environments Three main themes stand out in the book the changing relationships between women's roles as paid labour and in the household the interconnection between public and private activities and the way our understanding of these is linked to changing urban milieux Specific policy areas particularly housing but also leisure recreation and transportation are examined by some of the contributors while in the concluding chapter the editors discuss directions for further study and suggest appropriate research methods The annotated bibliography in itself a major contribution to the field will prove invaluable to future scholars      Singing Our Way to Victory Regina M. Sweeney, 2023-09-05 Winner of the International Book Award from International Association for the Study of Popular Music 2003 The practice of singing and songwriting in France during the Great War provides an intriguing tool for the exploration of the French cultural politics of the epoch Responding to the dearth of cultural studies of the First World War Regina Sweeney's unique cross disciplinary study illuminates many of the hitherto unexplored corners of an era that many historians consider to exhibit a break with recognizable trends In early twentieth century Europe singing was considered a part of education integral to the formation of good citizens Singing was especially important to the French for whom it was historically associated with authenticity of feeling and purity of character and thereby with the very roots of French democracy it was particularly associated with the image of France as a victorious nation But as Sweeney shows different performances of the same patriotic song could carry vastly different meanings By focusing on singing Sweeney is able to provide a more nuanced reading of French Great War cultures than ever before and to show that cultures previously held to be exclusive those of the home front and the Western front for example existed in dialectical tension and were themselves far from homogenous      Working in Steel Craig Heron, 1988-01-01 Here is the story of how mass production came to Canada and what it meant for Canadian workers Craig Heron's Working in Steel takes the reader inside the huge new steel plants that were built in Sydney New Glasgow Trenton Hamilton and Sault Ste Marie at the turn of the century Amid massive fire breathing machines we meet the steelworkers many of them migrants from southern and eastern European villages or Newfoundland outports who braved the smoke noise and heat in gruelling twelve hour days seven days a week And we watch the inevitable conflicts that developed when these workers began to make demands on their bosses Professor Heron presents a stimulating new analysis of the Canadian working class in the early twentieth century emphasizing the importance of changes in the work world for the larger patterns of working class life He examines the impact of new technology in Canada's Second Industrial Revolution but challenges the popular notion that mass production workers lost all skill power and pride in the work process He shifts the explanation of managerial control in these plants from machines to the blunt authoritarianism and shrewd paternalism of corporate management His discussion of Canada's first steelworkers sheds new light on the uneven unpredictable and conflict ridden process of technological change in industrial capitalist society      Cultivating Race Julia Tischler, 2025-02-17 Simultaneous to the rise of industrial capitalism agriculture still the mainstay of most human communities around the globe in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries underwent dramatic changes In many countries including most settler economies a large scale input heavy and increasingly mechanized commercial agricultural sector emerged while scores of struggling rural producers were squeezed off the land The same period saw the rise of a global colour line increasingly rigid social categorizations based foremost on skin colour By considering agricultural progressivism as both a Pan Africanist and white supremacist movement Julia Tischler here demonstrates how the agrarian question and the colour line intersected Taking a uniquely transnational and comparative approach the book explores these rural transformations through the lens of agricultural education including agricultural colleges extension services children s clubs and domestic training In so doing and by taking South Africa in the segregation period as its central case study an extreme example of both rapid agrarian change and state sanctioned racism the book offers important insights into global questions of rural reform and race politics addressing all scholars and students who seek to understand the intricate links between race knowledge and rural reform in the twentieth century

Labour Before the Law Judy Fudge, Eric Tucker, 2004-01-01 In this groundbreaking study of the relations between workers and the state Judy Fudge and Eric Tucker examine the legal regulation of workers collective action from 1900 to 1948 They analyze the strikes violent confrontations lockouts union organizing drives legislative initiatives and major judicial decisions that transformed the labour relations regime of liberal voluntarism which prevailed in the later part of the nineteenth century into industrial voluntarism whose centrepiece was Mackenzie King s Industrial Disputes Investigation Act of 1907 This period was marked by coercion and compromise as workers organized and fought to extend their rights against the profit oriented owners of capital while the state struggled to define a labour regime that contained industrial conflict The authors then trace the conflicts that eventually produced the industrial pluralism that Canadians have known in more recent years By 1948 a detailed set of legal rules and procedures had evolved and achieved a hegemonic status that no prior legal regime had even approached This regime has become so central to our everyday thinking about labour relations that one might be forgiven for thinking that everything that came earlier was truly before the law But as Labour Before the Law demonstrates workers who acted collectively prior to 1948 often found themselves before the law whether appearing before a magistrate charged with causing a disturbance facing a superior court judge to oppose an injunction or in front of a board appointed pursuant to a statutory scheme that was investigating a labour dispute and making recommendations for its resolution The book is simultaneously a history of law aspects of the state trade unions and labouring people and their interaction within the broad and shifting terrain of political economy The authors are attentive to regional differences and sectoral divergences and they attempt to address the fragmentation of class experience
