Love and Liberation Lauren Carruth, 2021-10-15

Lauren Carruth's Love and Liberation tells a new kind of humanitarian story The protagonists are not volunteers from afar but rather Somali locals caring for each other nurses aid workers policymakers drivers community health workers and bureaucrats The contributions of locals are often taken for granted and the competencies aspirations and effectiveness of local staffers frequently remain muted or absent from the planning and evaluation of humanitarian interventions structured by outsiders Relief work is traditionally imagined as politically neutral and impartial and interventions are planned as temporary extraordinary and distant Carruth provides an alternative vision of what humanitarian response means in practice not driven by International Humanitarian Law the missions of Western relief organizations or trends in the aid industry or academia but instead by what Somalis call samafal Samafal is structured by the cultivation of lasting relationships of care interdependence kinship and ethnic solidarity Samafal is also explicitly political and potentially emancipatory humanitarian responses present opportunities for Somalis to begin to redress histories of colonial partitions and to make the most out of their political and economic marginalization By centering Love and Liberation around Somalis understanding and enactments of samafal Carruth offers a new perspective on politics and intervention in Africa

In Feenin Alexander Ghedi Weheliye traces R B music's continuing centrality in Black life since the late 1970s Focusing on various musical production and reproduction technologies such as auto tune and the materiality of the BlackFem singing voice Weheliye counteracts the widespread popular and scholarly narratives of the genre's decline and death He shows how R B remains a thriving venue for the expression of Black thought and life and a primary archive of the contemporary moment Among other topics Weheliye discusses the postdisco evolution of house music in Chicago and techno in Detroit Prince and David Bowie in relation to appropriations of Blackness and Euro whiteness in the 1980s how the

BlackFem voice functions as a repository of Black knowledge the methods contemporary R B musicians use to bring attention to Black Lives Matter and the ways vocal distortion technologies such as the vocoder demonstrate Black music's relevance to discussions of humanism and posthumanism Ultimately Feenin represents Weheliye's capacious thinking about R B as the site through which to consider questions of Blackness technology history humanity community diaspora and nationhood
