Elaine Denholtz,2003-12 Ten grandparents aged 41 to 82 talk about their experiences in looking after their grandchildren and their relationships with their children and grandchildren Emotionally Intelligent Melissa Hall,2023-05-05

Emotional Intelligence Life Skills is designed with the educator counselor therapist parent youth minister and younger generation in mind This book begins by introducing the reader to the importance of understanding the brain and the way it affects behavior It also stresses the importance of teaching young people how the brain can grow and learn through neurons Additionally this book explores mindfulness and encourages the adult to teach and practice mindfulness techniques and scripture meditation with the young person s This resource is equipped with opening statements that are to be used for the individual or group settings A list of rules that identify how to work on the coping skills social skills and behavior skills daily is provided There are questions within the activities to engage the individuals as well as follow up questions to evaluate how well the individual has learned the information If the individual has not grasped the content adequately there are enough activities to allow continued expansion on the topic on different days The discussion engages the young person from the age of five up through the age of twenty three Included in this book is an outlined dialogue that can be used to communicate with parents to assist the young person and parent Many times children are taught skills to assist them in being successful in life but when they go home they are exposed to a different standard of being This can hinder growth Therefore this book makes sure that the information being taught to the young person is reinforced by the parent through what their role is in growth and development for each topic The hope for this workbook is to assist even the least creative educator therapist counselor parent and youth minister in effectively reaching out and making an impact in the minds and lives of the younger generations

Parents' Involvement in Education Obiefuna J. Onwughalu,2011-07-16 The Igbo community in Chicago is a newer immigrant community compared to the German Polish Italian or Irish communities Just as for these older immigrant communities education is essential for Igbo immigrants who have come to start a new life in the United States Adapting well and thriving in the new environment requires immigrants to tread the path of education The number of Igbo children and other such immigrants is increasing The way they are educated is important not only to the individual child but also to society Igbo children are enrolled in both public and private schools in the Chicago metropolitan area Ka umu anyi wee karia anyi So that our children will be more successful than us is one of the many reasons Igbo families in Chicago are involved in the education of their children Education of children occurs in the home the school and the community This study seeks to understand the nature of parental engagement of Igbo families in Chicago in the education of their children Not all immigrants are the same Knowing about Igbo experiences will enable scholars and educators to recognize both similarities with and differences from other immigrant communities It is immaterial whether their kind of involvement fits the prescribed or standardized form of parental involvement in the literature or in practice elsewhere The crucial question is given their circumstances are Igbo parents perceptions and practices of parental involvement promoting the education of their children
