Independent School Principals' Perceptions of the Role of Ownership in Strategic Planning Patricia Bradley Steele, 2008

Purpose and method of study The purpose of this study was to analyze the perceptions of independent school principals who have experienced the strategic planning process with regards to the role of ownership in the context of developing and implementing a strategic plan. This qualitative study relied on a phenomenological research approach utilizing participant interviews. The population for this study was comprised of principals from member schools of the Atlanta Association of Independent Schools. The researcher selected 10 participants from a purposeful sample of independent school principals who had experienced strategic planning in their own schools. This study analyzed the principals' perceptions in order to establish the essential structure of the role of ownership in the context of developing and implementing a strategic plan. The data were analyzed using the methodology of Colaizzi (1978) and Creswell (1998).

Findings and conclusions The analysis revealed that principals focused on three themes: a) the school's purpose during the development of the strategic plan, b) the written document and the people who implemented the plan during implementation of the strategic plan, and c) relationships and personal meaning during the development and the implementation of the strategic plan. The three theme clusters served as the basis for the development of an essential structure of independent school principals' perceptions of the role of ownership in the context of developing and implementing the strategic plan. That essential structure served to summarize the analysis of the principals' perceptions and noted that a) principals recognized the responsibility of focusing on the school's purpose, vision, and mission statement during the development of the strategic plan in an effort to achieve ownership of the strategic planning process, b) principals continually communicated with constituents and the community in an effort to build ownership of the strategic planning process, c) principals recognized that the role of school leadership in building ownership was vital to the strategic planning process, and d) principals acknowledged their personal ownership of the strategic planning process.

Better Boards, Better Schools: The ISM Guide for Private School Trusteeship and Strategic Governance

Weldon Burge, 2019-11-22

Being a member of the Board of Trustees for a private school is certainly an honor. You are asked to take into your care a school to ensure that each student's education fulfills the school's mission and that all students are nurtured and developed to their benefit. You must carry out that care by providing support resources to the School Head. Your relationship to the school, as with all Trustees, determines whether your school will be successful in the long term. Being a Board member is also somewhat puzzling. If you're like many Trustees, you're not sure how it happened. Maybe you were

approached at a social event Maybe another Board member had talked to you a while ago about it on the phone you may even have forgotten the conversation Maybe you were serving on a committee and this seemed the next logical step You've become a private school Trustee Now what This book is based on more than four decades of working with the Boards of hundreds of private schools Independent School Management ISM has honed its research and recommendations over those years to provide the best possible service to our schools We hope you'll find the following theory and advice valuable as you better prepare your Board to plan for your school's future Chapters include The Role of the Trustee The Board's Foundation and Strategic Structures Understanding Private School Finances Strategic Planning and Strategic Financial Planning The ISM Stability Markers Purpose and Outcome Statements ISM Success Predictors Recruiting and Orienting Board Members The Board Committees Board Meetings and Other Functions Board School Head Relationships The Board's Role in Fundraising Strategic Board Assessment A Sample Board Commitment and Trustee Handbook Independent School Management ISM is a family owned company dedicated to the advancement of private school management ISM reaches over 7 000 private independent schools and serves over 200 000 students annually with advice assistance and creative solutions Administrators in private schools of all types and sizes turn to ISM for advice and assistance on an array of management challenges including student recruitment and retention fundraising strategic and long range planning Board Head relations personnel plant expansion mergers leadership training and creative insurance solutions This book is based on more than four decades of working with the Boards of hundreds of private schools We've honed our research and recommendations over those years to provide the best possible service to our schools We hope you'll find the following theory and advice valuable as you better prepare your Board to plan for your school's future Resources in Education, 1998 International Schools and International Education Mary Hayden, Jeff Thompson, 2013-04-15 This work tackles the issues that staff and management of international schools need to address in order to ensure that their teaching and organization is of a high standard and quality It contains a wide range of contributions from international school experts around the world

HC 941 - Establishing Free Schools Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Committee of Public Accounts,Margaret Hodge,2014-05-09 Recent high profile failures demonstrate that the Department for Education and the Education Funding Agency s oversight arrangements for free schools are not yet working effectively The Department and Agency have set up an approach to oversight which emphasises schools autonomy but standards of financial management and governance in some free schools are clearly not up to scratch The Agency relies on high levels of compliance by schools

yet fewer than half of free schools submitted their required financial returns for 2011 12 to the Agency on time Whistleblowers played a major role in uncovering recent scandals when problems should have been identified through the Agency s monitoring processes There is also concern that applications for new free schools are not emerging from areas of greatest forecast need for more and better school places The Department needs to set out how and by when it will encourage applications from areas with a high or severe forecast need for extra schools places working with local authorities where appropriate The Department should also be more open about the reasons for making decisions Capital costs of the free school programme are escalating The most recent round of approved free schools had a greater proportion of more expensive types such as secondaries special and alternative provision located in more expensive regions such as London the South East and South West If this mix of approved free schools continues there is a risk of costs exceeding available funding
