

Family therapy techniques

Family therapy techniques address family conflict by improving communication and interaction within the family. Four main models dominate the spectrum.

Structural family therapy

Theorizes that the family structure is responsible for its problem and that a certain level of hierarchy and boundaries are needed to remain healthy.

Bowenian family therapy

Comprehensive approach where the goal of therapy is self-differentiation, or the ability to separate thoughts from feelings.

Strategic family therapy

Families maintain problems through repeated responses to family interactions. Most work is done outside of the therapy session in the form of homework.

Systemic family therapy

A family member develops symptoms to cope with the behavior of other family members. By changing one person's actions, the entire system can be altered as everyone is interconnected.

Handbook of Family Therapy Training and Supervision Howard A. Liddle, Douglas C. Breunlin, Richard C. Schwartz, 1988-06-17 Over the last three decades family therapy has revolutionized the mental health field changing the way human problems are conceived and therapy is conducted In concert with the dynamic growth of family therapy the field of family therapy training and supervision has also expanded enormously yielding many new ideas and skills Yet until now few books have been devoted to it and no single volume has attempted to relate the full breadth of this growing field in terms of its conceptual and theoretical expansion as well as its practical application HANDBOOK OF FAMILY THERAPY TRAINING AND SUPERVISION fills this need by presenting a truly comprehensive view of this dynamic area To accomplish this broad yet in depth scope editors Liddle Breunlin and Schwartz have assembled 30 highly acclaimed authorities to author chapters in their respective areas of expertise For further clarification the editors have included segues that introduce and analyze each of the book's four major sections providing the reader with an overview of the section highlights of themes that run through it and discussion of the issues raised in a way that ties the chapters together The book opens with a presentation of the unique and innovative approaches to training and supervision that have evolved in each separate school of family therapy Offering a panoramic view of the entire field of family therapy these seven chapters allow for fascinating comparisons among the different schools regarding the process by which ideas about therapy evolve into training techniques and philosophies Section II follows with an explication of the pragmatics of family therapy supervision Helping family therapy trainers avoid and anticipate the common mistakes involved with supervision the skills described in this section create an atmosphere conducive to learning and maintaining a working trainer trainee relationship and finally for training of supervisors Practical guidelines for using live and video supervision are included Section III features family therapy trainers in such diverse fields as psychiatry psychology family medicine social work nursing free standing and academic family therapy programs who describe the problems and advantages they encounter teaching these new ideas within their idiosyncratic contexts The book closes with a section that includes reflections on the field by such innovative and respected leaders as Cloe Madanes and Jay Haley Among topics covered are perspectives and recommendations for researchers evaluating family therapy practical advice for incorporating a cultural perspective into training programs feedback on the experience of live supervision from trainees perspectives An appendix follows that provides over 400 references organized by subject for easy reference Given the level and scope of this extraordinary text FAMILY THERAPY TRAINING AND SUPERVISION is an invaluable resource for anyone interested in teaching learning or simply appreciating family therapy     Marital and Family Therapy Ira D. Glick, Ellen M. Berman, John F. Clarkin, 2003-09-01 Marital and Family Therapy now in its Fourth Edition continues its tradition as a classic resource for psychiatrists and family therapists trainees and practitioners alike by combining psychiatric and integrative family models into a single framework The recent growth and changes in the field especially the movement away from narrowly based schools of therapy toward an integrative approach prompted the authors to expand and rewrite the text The authors have included the results of 20 years of successful field testing by trainees and have supplemented the text with well placed case vignettes and charts The authors have further renewed the appeal of this definitive text by 1 rewriting the discussion of how new attitudes and information about gender culture class and race are affecting family theory building 2 updating their text for compatibility with DSM IV TR and ICD 10 3 adding a section on treating Axis I disorders by combining family therapy with medication 4 adding a section on the new subspecialty of family systems medicine 5 offering the latest on family therapy effectiveness and training and 6 discussing afresh the ethical financial and professional issues facing therapists today With two new authors up to date references for the advanced therapist and suggested readings for both instructor and student this volume will spend little time on the shelf Psychiatrists family therapists social workers nurses family education teachers counselors family physicians and family law professionals will turn to this practical reference time and time again as they seek a better understanding of the evolving field of marital and family therapy
