Problem□Solution Pattern Lynne Flowerdew, 2008-02-06 This book reports research on the Problem Solution rhetorical pattern which has to date received very little attention in corpus based studies Insights from genre analysis and systemic functional grammar are also applied to the analysis of the Problem Solution pattern thus moving towards a more multi faceted analysis of corpus data The pattern is investigated in two specialized corpora of technically oriented report writing a professional corpus and a student corpus using a key word and key key word analysis Phraseological analyses of key words in both corpora are presented Data show that students writing lacks a range of lexico grammatical patternings for expressing the Problem and Solution elements of the pattern The book concludes with some pedagogic implications and applications of the findings Suggested concordancing activities are discussed within the context of key issues in the field of data driven learning Exploring the Lexis□Grammar Interface Ute Römer, Rainer Schulze, 2009-03-11 This volume showcases studies that recognize and provide evidence for the inseparability of lexis and grammar The contributors explore in what ways these two areas often treated separately in linguistic theory and description form an organic whole The papers in Section I Setting the Scene introduce some of the key methodological approaches and theoretical positions at the lexis grammar interface while Section II Considering the Particulars contains papers that report on case studies and show concrete applications of the central methods and theories Exploring the Lexis Grammar Interface is a stimulating collection of papers for anyone who wishes to learn more about and get fresh state of the art perspectives on language patterning Corpora and Discourse

Language, Corpora, and Technology in Applied Linguistics Muhammad Afzaal, Swaleha Bano Naqvi, Geng Qiang, 2023-11-27 As culture and society has become more digitalized especially when computer science and digital technologies have entered a new era in the twenty first century translation studies began to utilize a wide range of tools to enhance its reading of texts and contexts without which translation both as a practice and as a theorization could barely persist It has become more apparent that two extreme poles between macro and micro visions have formed the diversified terrains of translation studies On the one hand technologies like NLP topic modeling network analysis and data visualization make distant reading become possible thus allowing us to have a paradigmatic view of how human s ideas beliefs values knowledge and even emotions have spread in some patterns across cultural geographical and language divides in world history On the other hand corpus methods such as the use of keywords collocates and concordance lines changed the way by which texts were closely read from linear to vertical With microscope like corpus tools we could go deeper into the texture for perception of nuanced meaning While considering a fact that translation is seldom mono modal in conveying meaning we have to reconceptualize context as a multimodal environment where audio visual and other resources interact to convey and make meaning With regard to the fast development of digital technology translation studies take an active role in gaining an enhanced capability in promoting transformation Complexity has been favored in terms of theoretical framework and methodology New questions are asked old ones revisited with novel tools but more areas wait to be cultivated and more questions to be approached by combining quantitative and qualitative methods We could ask if digital technologies would bring new innovation to study of translation history a heavily walled land for traditional humanists who tend to repeat so what to question the less significance of data driven studies The idea of high quality machine translation has become so realistic in today s market that translation educators have to face the shock wave it brought to translation learners and practitioners and rethink the relation between human translators and algorithms Machine translation assisted communication could help remove boundaries for better communication but at the same time it also creates conflicts and leads to confrontation Thus understood it is imperative to give a concerned attention to digital translation studies that is to study translation by resorting to and drawing on the digital technologies This Research Topic is intended to promote current directions and new developments in cross disciplinary critical discourse research We welcome papers which from a critical analytical perspective deal with contemporary social scientific political economic or professional discourses and genres Papers addressing the highlighted topics are especially welcome In giving weight to these topics we wish to call to attention some of the most pressing problems currently facing the world

Political Myth-making, Nationalist Resistance and Populist Performance Mark Nartey, 2022-11-30 Using the socio political discourse of Kwame Nkrumah a pioneering Pan Africanist and Ghana s independence leader Nartey investigates the notion of political myth making in a context underexplored in the literature He examines Nkrumah s construction of a myth described in the book as the Unite or Perish myth i e the idea of a United States of Africa being a prerequisite for the survival of Africa in the post independence period exploring the rhetorical resources he deployed categorizing and analyzing key tropes and metaphors and setting out the myth s basic components This book focuses on three areas an investigation of political myth making as a social and discursive practice in order to identify particular semiotic practices and linguistic patterns deployed in the construction of mythic discourse the unpacking of the discursive manifestation representation features and functions of political mythic themes and finally to propose and implement an integrated discourse analytical framework to account for the complexities of mythic discourse and political narratives in general It analyzes how Nkrumah deployed his discourse to concurrently construct heroes and villains protagonists and antagonists as part of an ideological mechanism aimed at galvanizing support for and instigating action on the part of the masses towards his lifelong African dream Nartey s book steps out from the conventional domain of critical discourse studies to focus on myth as a form of populist performance It will be of interest to postgraduate students and academics in critical discourse studies rhetorical discourse analysis African and Diaspora studies and African history as well as non academics such as journalists political commentators and people who consider themselves to be Nkrumaists and Pan Africanists
