Strategy And Compromise:

Strategy and Compromise Samuel Eliot Morison, 1958 Analyzes the major strategic decisions which came up before the American Joint Chiefs of Staff and their British counterpart during the World War Strategy and Compromise Samuel Eliot Morison, 1960 The Dynamics of Aggression Michael Potegal, John F. Knutson, 2013-06-17 Aggression usually involves a sequence of behaviors reflecting escalations and de escalations in the form or intensity of the actions taken which play out over time This book provides a context in which social and biological research on the aggressive behaviors of human and non human subjects interacting in dyads or groups can be compared and integrated Implicit in this juxtaposition is the major question of whether general principles governing the dynamics of aggression within and between episodes may be discerned Aggressive behavior is described at different levels of analysis in humans and a number of other animal species Three basic views of aggression dynamics become apparent The economic interpretation Aggression will be escalated when it pays one of the combatants to do so or more generally when the potential benefits outweigh the risks Decisions to escalate or de escalate are part of a calculated strategy in one or another sense This interpretation is formalized within game theoretic models as applied to animal conflicts and to international conflicts within the chapters of this text The psychological process interpretation Emphasis is placed on psychological physiological processes within the individual The chapters stress the importance of acute emotional states of anger and aggressive arousal and argue the role of peripheral sympathetic activation while proposing a central neural mechanism Children escalating their tantrums adult humans and animals of other species intensifying their interpersonal conflicts national leaders going to a war footing all appear to suffer a narrowing of attention and progressive failure of cognitive function under the intensifying stress of conflict Perhaps these changes in attention sensory and cognitive functions and risk taking reflect a commitment to aggression which is necessary for organisms to engage in potentially dangerous and painful encounters The emergent process interpretation Escalation emerges in a spontaneous and dynamic way as the actions of one participant elicit reactions from the other s Neuroergonomics and Cognitive Engineering Hasan Ayaz, 2022-07-24 Neuroergonomics and Cognitive Engineering Proceedings of the 13th International Conference on Applied Human Factors and Ergonomics AHFE 2022 July 24 28 2022 New York USA

Effective Negotiation Ray Fells, 2012-05-08 Effective Negotiation is a task oriented and practical resource that provides the skills needed to reach a good agreement It examines how negotiations work and covers key issues such as trust power and information exchange Ray Fells draws on his extensive teaching and research experience to present useful applicable strategies and advice on managing workplace and business negotiations Fully revised and updated this comprehensive second edition boasts new features including chapter summaries fundamental skills tips and a complete Negotiator s Toolkit It incorporates up to date case studies new material on mediation and on multiparty negotiations and a new concluding chapter on being an effective negotiator The companion website at www.cambridge.edu/academic/effective includes a comprehensive set of lecturer resources including PowerPoint summaries negotiation role plays and expanded case material Effective Negotiation remains an essential resource for students and professionals in the fields of business and management law human resource management and employment relations Translators' Strategies and Creativity Ann Beylard-Ozeroff, Jana Králová, Barbara Moser-Mercer, 1998-05-15 In their contributions the authors reflect upon Lev s thinking on translation as a communication process and on Popovi s insistence on the importance of re creating a text both at the surface and deep levels Examples are drawn from literary translation technical translation from audio visual translation and from interpreting and the authors point out that translators in all domains inevitably come up against linguistic textual and other constraints which if they are to be resolved successfully call upon a translator s and interpreter s strategies and creativity The authors argue that this is the essence of professional decision making in translation according to Lev translation is a decision making process and that translation teachers should help students develop an understanding of translation strategies and of the vital role that creativity plays throughout the translation interpreting process

Seward William Henry Seward, 1884 Deciding in Unison: Themes in Consensual Democracy in Africa Emmanuel Ifeanyi Ani , Edwin E. Etieyibo, 2020-04-02 Deciding in Unison Themes in Consensual Democracy in Africa is an edited volume that both scholars and students of African philosophy and politics will find interesting The chapters trace the current state of the debate as well as the idea that the advancement of consensus democracy as unanimity democracy is no longer valid and a democracy of compromise is suggested as an alternative for advancing consensus democracy The collection also contains chapters dealing with Wiredu's consensual proposal for the building of resistance movements as well as his views about the relativity of truth and the way we should handle it However there are also chapters that explore the non party system Wiredu proposes as not applicable in practice Furthermore the issues related to transferring consensus supporting values like communism into the contemporary Africa setting are also examined Also discussed in the book is how current presentations of African epistemology cannot pass for epistemology and how we could begin to think of fashioning an African epistemology from deliberation aimed at consensus

On Consensus Jean Pierre Chabot, 2022-02-15 On Consensus A Framework for Adaptive Action is a tool in the toolbox of anyone looking to improve decision making processes in general and to build consensus in particular The book provides not only a step by step approach to building consensus but it also provides a framework for thinking about how to think about consensus All institutions are built and sustained through some sort of consensus The degree to which the consensus that underwrites institutions is conscious determines the future viability of collective choices and actions Democracy is in need of better tools and thinking on consensus The book provides a leverage for those involved in high stakes decision making especially where there is a convergence of governance development and stewardship It explores what is required to arrive at a conscious consensus and to build a path towards more adaptive action Decision framing a profound meeting of minds

How Participatory Evaluation Research Affects the Management Control Process of a Multinational Nonprofit Organization Gail J.

Fulst, 2017-02-03. This title, first published in 1993, addresses two questions: can evaluation research function as a surrogate market in non-profit organisations to measure value and assess the goods and services they provide? And second, can the findings from an evaluation process be incorporated as a service accomplishment element into the accounting information published by non-profit organisations? This title will be of interest to students of business studies. 5 Leadership Essentials for Women, 2004. 5 Leadership Essentials will guide Christian laywomen to develop fundamental skills in moving projects forward, leading other women and changing the world for Christ. The five key leadership areas addressed are group building, communication skills, relationship skills, conflict management and time management. Written by women who are experienced leaders, 5 Leadership Essentials also includes discussion questions and learning exercises at the end of each chapter.
