Ogundiya, Akinpelu Olanrewaju Olutayo, Jimoh Amzat, 2011 Contributed articles DFID's Programme in Zambia Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: International Development Committee, 2012-09-06 Although Zambia has enjoyed significant economic growth in the last decade it remains one of the least developed countries in the world ranking 164 out of 187 countries in the 2011 UN Human Development The country is seriously off track on the poverty Millennium Development Goal MDG1 and inequality remains very high Women suffer disproportionately violence against women is widespread and maternal mortality rates MDG5 are high The foremost challenge for the Zambian economy is to spread wealth to rural areas and the Committee welcomes DFID s proposed rural markets development programme which seeks to increase the productivity of poor smallholder farmers by strengthening markets for inputs and crops Lack of access to reproductive health services is one of the key reasons maternal mortality is high The report recommends that DFID encourage the Zambian Government to allow clinicians other than doctors including nurses and midwives to be trained to provide Long Acting and Permanent Method contraception DFID should focus its efforts on rural areas and young people Secondary tertiary and vocational education should also be prioritised in DFID s education expenditure There is a particular need for business education with a lack of competent middle management across the Zambian economy in the public and private sector The report also highlights major inefficiencies in Zambia s public expenditure which if removed could free up revenues to improve public services The biggest of these is the maize subsidy

Parliamentary Elections, Representation and the Law Caroline Morris,2012-05-04 Parliamentary elections are the foundation of the democratic State providing legitimacy to government and an opportunity for citizens to participate in the democratic process But despite the crucial role of elections in government and society the law governing them is fragmented both conceptually and in terms of the legal framework This book examines each stage of the electoral process from the perspective of the candidate seeking to become an MP eligibility and qualification the candidate selection process nominations disputed elections and then lastly disqualification or exit from the House of Commons Each stage of the process is considered in light of developments in political practice and human rights jurisprudence and an argument is made for the rethinking and reform of the law of parliamentary candidacy and membership The book takes into account the reforms ushered in by the parliamentary expenses scandal of 2009 and also looks to the new electoral era that may eventuate under the Liberal Democrat Conservative Coalition Government Proceedings of the 15th European Conference on eGovernment 2015 Dr Carl Adams,2015-06-18 Complete proceedings of the 15th European Conference on eGovernment Portsmouth UK Published by Academic Conferences and Publishing International Limited
