Carayannis, David F. J. Campbell, 2018-10-01 This book explores at the macro meso and micro levels and in terms of qualitative as well as quantitative studies the current and future role of museums for art and society Given the dynamic developments in art and society museums need to change in order to remain and in some ways regain relevance This relevance is in the sense of a power to influence Additionally museums have challenges that arise in the production of art through the use of permanent and rapidly changing technologies This book examines how museums deal with the increasing importance of performance art and social interactive art artistic disciplines which refuse to use classical or digital artistic media in their artistic processes The book also observes how museums are adapting in the digital age It addresses such questions as How to keep museums in contact with recipients of art in a world in which the patterns of communication and perception have changed dramatically and also Can the art museum as a real place be a counterpart in a virtualized and digitalized society or will museums need to virtualize and even globalize themselves virtually Chapters also cover topics such as the merits of digital technologies in museums and how visitors perceive these changes and innovations When you go back to the etymological origin the Mouseion of Alexandria it was a place where supported by the knowledge stored there art and science were developed a place of interdisciplinary research and networking as you would call it today The word from the Ancient Hellenic language for museum means the house of the muses where the arts and sciences find their berth and cradle With the Wunderkammer the museum was re invented as a place for amazing for purpose of representation of dynastic power followed by the establishment of museums as a demonstration of bourgeois self consciousness In the twentieth century the ideal of the museum as an institution for education received a strong boost before the museum as a tourism infrastructure became more and more the institutional economic and political role model This book is interested in discovering what is next for museums and how these developments will affect art and society Each of the chapters are written by academics in the field but also by curators and directors of major museums and art institutions Gender and Material Culture in Archaeological Perspective Moira Donald, Linda Hurcombe, 2000-09-30 Case studies drawn from many different periods and areas develop concepts and theories as diverse as the social contexts of production and artifact
