Sm 72 Darker Dreams:

A Concise Anglo-Saxon Dictionary John R. Clark Hall, 1894 Animal Visions Susan Mary Pyke, 2019-03-15 Animal Visions considers how literature responds to the harms of anthropocentrism working with Emily Brontë's Wuthering Heights 1847 and various adaptations of this canonistic novel to show how posthumanist dream writing unsettles the privileging of the human species over other species Two feminist and post Freudian responses Kathy Acker's poem Obsession 1992 and Anne Carson's The Glass Essay 1997 most strongly extend Brontë's dream writing in this direction Building on the trope of a ludic Cathy ghost who refuses the containment of logic and reason these and other adaptations offer the gift of a radical peri-hysteria This emotional excess is most clearly seen in Kate Bush's music video Wuthering Heights 1978 and Peter Kosminsky's film Wuthering Heights 1992 Such disturbances make space for a moor love that is particularly evident in Jane Urquhart's novel Changing Heaven 1989 and to a lesser extent Sylvia Plath's poem Wuthering Heights 1961 Brontë's Wuthering Heights and its most productive afterings make space for co-affective relations between humans and other animal beings Andrea Arnold's film Wuthering Heights 2011 and Luis Buñuel's Abismos de Pasi n 1954 also highlight the rupturing split gaze of non-acting animals in their films In all of these works depictions of intra-active and entangled responses between animals show the potential for dynamic and generative multispecies relations where the human is one animal amongst the kin of the world

The volume is organized into three thematic sections: traditions, individuals, and methods. The twenty-three articles highlight the most important theories, the most contentious debates, and the most far-reaching implications of this growing field of study.

Sotheby, Wilkinson & Hodge, 1905 An Anglo-Saxon Reader in Prose and Verse Henry Sweet, 1892 Handbook of Resilience in Children of War Chandi Fernando, Michel Ferrari, 2013-04-23. Their frightened, angry faces are grim reminders of the reach of war. They are millions of children orphaned, displaced, forced to flee or to fight. And just as they have myriad possibilities for trauma, their lives also hold great potential for recovery. The Handbook of Resilience in Children of War explores these critical phenomena at the theoretical, research, and treatment levels, beginning with the psychosocial effects of exposure to war. Narratives of young people's lives in war zones as diverse as Afghanistan, Sri Lanka, Columbia, and Sudan reveal the complexities of their experiences and the meanings they attach to them, providing valuable keys to their rehabilitation. Other chapters identify strengths and limitations of current interventions and of constructs of resilience as applied to youth affected by war. Throughout this cutting-edge volume, the emphasis is on improving the field through more relevant research and accurate, evidence-based interventions in such areas as: An ecological resilience approach to promoting mental health in children of war; Child soldiers and the myth of the ticking time bomb; The Child-Friendly Spaces postwar intervention program; The role of education for war-zone immigrant and refugee students; Political violence, identity, and adjustment in children. The Handbook of Resilience in Children of War is essential reading for researchers, scientists, practitioners, and graduate students in diverse fields including clinical child, school, and developmental psychology, child and adolescent psychiatry, social work, counseling, education, and allied medical and public health disciplines.

Racism, the City and the State Malcolm Cross, Michael Keith, 2013-01-11. Does the concept of ethnicity divide the oppressed or unite minorities? Is the term "community" a dangerous fiction? What are the relations between the liberal capitalist democratic state and racialized minority groups? The contributors to this book confront and discuss these questions, bringing together ideas on urban social theory, contemporary cultural change, and analysis of racial subordination in order to explore the relationship between racism, the city, and the state. The book concentrates on the urban context of the process of racialization, demonstrating that the city provides the institutional framework for racial segregation, a key process whereby racialization has been reproduced and sustained. Individual chapters explore the profound divisions inscribed on the face of the city, showing for example that ethnicity is more powerful than social class in moulding the identities of new migrants to California, and that the reconstruction of French capitalism has opened new opportunities for the growth of right-wing popularism. The contributors show how in the UK urban space over the last two decades has been redefined and reconstructed in ways which sustain separation and racial inequality and they highlight how black minorities struggling for survival in Britain's cities are seen as responsible for violence crime poverty and overcrowding
