Grattan, 2016-04-01 Following careers in the military and in industry Robert Grattan has devoted himself to the subject of strategy and its related theory through his research into the strategy implementation employed by business governments and the military Strategy process is widely studied and taught but argues Robert Grattan comprehensive prescriptive theories have yet to be developed This book is based on analysis of the strategic defence review SDR conducted by the UK Ministry of Defence the methodology for which has been employed in other countries The study focuses on how the review was managed through the twin lenses of strategic business management theory and the Essence of Decision theory of governmental decision making closely associated with the John F Kennedy School of Government in the USA The author has been fortunate in being granted interviews with the leading figures in Government the Civil Service and the Military who participated in the SDR process and in having gained access to information in Ministry of Defence files under Freedom of Information legislation The result is Strategic Review a book that provides vivid insights into what happened in a large complex organisation during a major strategic review and highlights the problems likely to be encountered during the process of formulating strategy in business in government in sport and any other human endeavour It will appeal to many in business intrigued by the similarities between the issues facing business and military strategists to those involved in public policy making to the defence community and to academics and higher level students with an interest in this rich field of study

Destradi,2012-02-27 This book examines Indian foreign policy and security relations in its eastern regional neighbourhood Indian Foreign and Security Policy in South Asia conducts an in depth analysis into India s foreign policy towards the three main countries in India s Eastern neighbourhood Sri Lanka Nepal and Bangladesh In particular it deals with India s role in the final years of the civil war in Sri Lanka its approach to the peace and democratisation process in Nepal and Indian foreign policy towards Bangladesh on a range of issues including Islamist militancy migration border security and insurgency Set within an analytical framework centred on the notions of empire hegemony and leadership the study reveals that India pursued predominantly hegemonic strategies and was not able to generate genuine followership among its smaller neighbours The South Asian case therefore shows the discrepancy that may exist between the possession of power capabilities and the ability to exercise actual influence a conclusion which lifts the study from geographical specifics and extends its relevance to other cases and cross regional comparisons This text will be of much interest to students of Indian foreign policy Asian security foreign policy analysis strategic studies and IR in general Working Across Cultures
