M. Turner, 2001-07-05 Our knowledge of the ecology of tropical rain forest trees is limited with detailed information available for perhaps only a few hundred of the many thousand of species that occur Yet a good understanding of the trees is essential to unravelling the workings of the forest itself This book aims to summarise contemporary understanding of the ecology of tropical rain forest trees The emphasis is on comparative ecology an approach that can help to identify possible adaptive trends and evolutionary constraints and which may also lead to a workable ecological classification for tree species conceptually simplifying the rain forest community and making it more amenable to analysis

Halophytes as a resource for livestock and for rehabilitation of degraded lands V. Squires, A.T. Ayoub, 2012-12-06 Desertification land degradation in arid semi arid and dry sub humid areas resulting mainly from adverse human impacts is the main environmental problem of dry lands which occupy more than 40 per cent of the total global land area The phenomenon threatens about 3.6 billion hectares and currently affects the livelihood of about 900 million people The world is now losing annually about 1.5 million hectares of total irrigated lands 240 million hectares due mostly to salinization mainly in drylands Salt affected soils are widely distributed throughout the arid and semi arid regions and particularly severe in China 7 million ha India 20 million ha Pakistan 3.2 million ha USA 5.2 million ha as well as Near East southern Europe and elsewhere Demands on production have increased the pressure on existing productive land and moved the limits of production onto increasingly marginal lands Wise land use practices have yet to be developed for such conditions The Executive Director of UNEP reported to the Governing Council in February 1992 concerning the Status of Desertification and Implementation of the United Nations Plan of Action to Combat Desertification PACD The Report concludes that major efforts to implement the PACD had gone into supporting measures rather than concrete corrective field operations Little evidence of progress was found in irrigated croplands rainfed croplands or rangelands It was recommended that every piece of land should be used in keeping with its ecological characteristics natural capabilities and constraints

Mediterranean-type Ecosystems R.L. Specht, P.W. Rundel, W.E. Westman, P.C. Catling, J.D. Majer, P. Greenslade, 2012-12-06 The regions of the world which experience a mediterranean type climate with a cool wet season alternating with a hot dry summer contain some of the world's most attractive landscapes In the Old World the mediterranean landscapes became the cradle of civilization other mediterranean areas of the world have attracted considerable populations for many centuries These large human populations have exerted considerable stress on the fragile ecosystems which developed in these sunny but droughted fire prone landscapes The mediterranean landscape has thus become one of the most threatened in the world In recent years much has been learned about the structure and function of mediterranean type ecosystems Di Castri and Mooney 1973 Mooney 1977 Throter and Bradbury 1977 Mooney and Conrad 1977 Specht 1979 1981 Miller 1981 Di Castri et al 1981 Conrad and Oechel 1982 Queze 1982 Margaritis and Mooney 1981 Kruger et al 1983 Long and Pons 1984 Dell et al 1986 Tenhunen et al 1987 Much of this research has been fostered under the International Biological Program IBP UNESCO Man and the Biosphere Program MAB and recently the International Society of Mediterranean Ecologists ISOMED To facilitate intercontinental comparisons many of these studies have concentrated on a limited number of intensive sites thought to be representative of a general region

Plant-animal interactions in Mediterranean-type ecosystems Margarita Arianoutsou-Faraggiti, R.H. Groves, 2012-12-06 The Sixth International Conference on Mediterranean Climate ecosystems was held at Maleme Crete Greece from September 23 to

September 27 1991 This conference had as its theme Plant Animal Interactions in Mediterranean type Ecosystems Most of the papers presented to that meeting have already been published see Thanos C A ed 1992 Proceedings of the VI International Conference on Mediterranean Climate Ecosystems Athens 389 pp These 57 papers were all necessarily short But the theme of plant animal interactions was considered by the Organizing Committee to be so important to a fundamental understanding of the ecology of Mediterranean climate ecosystems and to an enhanced management of those systems that various international research scientists were invited to prepare longer contributions on major aspects of the overall theme The Book that follows represents the result of those invitations All five regions of Mediterranean climate are represented Chile California southern Australia and the Cape Province of South Africa as well as the Mediterranean Basin itself

Sabkha Ecosystems M. Ajmal Khan, Benno Böer, German S. Kust, Hans-Jörg Barth, 2008-08-27 Sabkha Ecosystems Volume I The Arabian Peninsula and Adjacent Countries was published in 2002 It was the first comprehensive volume dealing with the subject of sabkha research and sabkha environmental management Valuable new information was provided for the sabkha of numerous countries on and adjacent to the Arabian Peninsula This new volume now follows up on this important process and provides data and information on salt desert ecosystems of numerous West and Central Asian countries including many of which are located in the Arabian Peninsula The information provided assists the reader to better understand sabkha geology hydrology geomorphology zoology botany ecology ecosystem functioning as well as sabkha conservation utilisation and development The volume is paramount literature for anyone dealing with sabkha research and development

Biodiversity in Ecosystems Anselm Kratochwil, 2001-11-30 Nature conservation Biomonitoring: General and Applied Aspects on Regional and Global Scales Conradin A. Burga, Anselm Kratochwil, 2013-04-17 This volume contains a selection of 14 articles dealing with different aspects of biomonitoring and their relation to questions of global change The first part concerns general aspects of biomonitoring The second part gives examples of applied biomonitoring in Germany and Switzerland changes in species composition phenologies vegetation restoration changes in soil conditions and heavy metal concentrations The third part deals with climate related monitoring studies of arctic alpine and temperate regions of the Northern Hemisphere mountain peaks and timberline ecotones of the Alps spread of exotic evergreen broad leaved plants phytomass and carbon balance in Svalbard

Seeds Carol C. Baskin, Jerry M. Baskin, 2001 Seeds Ecology Biogeography and Evolution of Dormancy and Germination provides a working hypothesis of the ecological and environmental conditions under which various kinds of seed dormancy have developed It also presents the seed germination of more than 3500 species of trees shrubs vines and herbaceous species

Pasoh T. Okuda, N. Manokaran, Y. Matsumoto, K. Niiyama, S.C. Thomas, P.S. Ashton, 2013-06-29 The Pasoh Forest Reserve pasoh FR has been a leading center for international field research in the Asian tropical forest since the 1970s when a joint research project was carried out by Japanese British and Malaysian research teams with the cooperation of the University of Malaya UM and the Forest Research Institute FRI now the Forest Research

Institute Malaysia FRIM under the International Biological Program IBP The main objective of the project was to provide basic information on the primary productivity of the tropical rain forest which was thought to be the most productive of the world's ecosystems After the IBP project a collaborative program between the University of Malaya and the University of Aberdeen Scotland UK for post graduate training was carried out at Pasoh Reproductive biology of some dipterocarp trees featured in many of the findings arrived at through the program contributing greatly to progress in the population genetics of rain forest trees Since those research programs apart of the Pasoh forest and its field research station have been managed by FRIM In 1984 FRIM started a long term ecological research program in Pasoh FR with the Smithsonian Tropical Research Institute STRI and Harvard University establishing a 50 ha plot and enumerating and mapping all trees 1 cm or more in diameter at breast height A census has been conducted every 5 years

Cash Crop Halophytes: Recent Studies Helmut Lieth, Marina Mochtenko, 2013-11-11 This volume follows up a seminal meeting presenting reports on progress made with recommendations made there The text reports on the development of pilot projects and on the organization of an international organization All this will serve as the foundation for future efforts to develop the common utilisation of cash crop halophytes

Microscopic Venation Patterns of Leaves and Their Importance in the Distinction of (tropical) Species Ingrid Roth, 1996 With the present publication the structural studies of the ROLLET Collection in Venezuelan Guiana are completed Hundreds of tree species were studied concerning their bark structure their leaf anatomy and fruit structure The picture is now rounded off by the investigation of the leaf venation described in detail in this book accompanied by many instructive figures The book will be of interest not only to anatomists taxonomists and ecologists but also to the teachers explaining the extraordinary tropical flora
