German Culture through Film Robert C. Reimer, Reinhard Zachau, 2017-09-01. German Culture through Film: An Introduction to German Cinema is an English language text that serves equally well in courses on modern German film, in courses on general film studies, in courses that incorporate film as a way to study culture and as an engaging resource for scholars, students and devotees of cinema and film history. In its second edition, German Culture through Film expands on the first edition providing additional chapters with context for understanding the era in which the featured films were produced. Thirty-three notable German films are arranged in seven chronological chapters spanning key moments in German film history from the silent era to the present. Each chapter begins with an introduction that focuses on the history and culture surrounding films of the relevant period. The Films of Fritz Lang Tom Gunning, 2019-07-25. In this volume Tom Gunning examines the films of Fritz Lang not only as a stylistically coherent body of work but as an attempt to portray the modern world through cinema. The world of modernity in which systems replace individuals is conveyed by Lang's mastery of cinematic set design, composition and editing. Lang presents not only a decades-long vision of cinematic narrative which can be compared to that of Alfred Hitchcock or Jean Renoir but a view of modernity that relates strongly to the ideas of Adorno, Brecht, Benjamin and Kracauer. From the sweeping allegorical films of the 20s to the chilly and abstract thrillers of the 50s, Lang's films, Gunning claims, are among the most precious records of the twentieth century. The Films of Fritz Lang immeasurably enriches our understanding of a great artist and in so doing reimagines what a film artist is: an author who fades away even in being recognised and interpreted, an enigmatic figure at the junction of aesthetics, history, biography and theory.

With smartness and sharpness the essays in this essential volume come from many angles to capture the richness of Lang's cinema and bring great insight to its study. Dana Polan, Cinema Studies, NYU.
