Chretien de Troyes was France's great medieval poet inventor of the genre of courtly romance and popularizer of the Arthurian legend. The forty-four surviving manuscripts of his work, ten of them illuminated, pose a number of questions about who used these books and in what way. In Sealed in Parchment, Sandra Hindman scrutinizes both text and images to reveal what the manuscripts can tell us about medieval society and politics. The Bible for Children Ruth B. Bottigheimer, 1996-01-01 For more than five centuries parents, teachers, and preachers in Europe and America have written and illustrated Bibles especially for children. These children's Bibles vary widely, featuring different stories, various interpretations, and markedly divergent illustrations despite their common source. How children's Bibles differ and why is the subject of this ground-breaking book, the first to recognize children's Bibles as a distinct genre with its own literary, historical, and cultural significance. Historical Dictionary of the Netherlands Joop W. Koopmans, 2015-11-05 The Kingdom of the Netherlands is a small but heavily populated country with almost 17 million inhabitants. It is one of the last kingdoms in Europe and in 2015 it celebrated its 200 years anniversary. The Netherlands became a kingdom after the Napoleonic era. During this period it was transformed into a centralized state. Before those years it had been one of few republics in Europe for about two centuries. That state was a confederacy which emerged in the 1580s during its independence struggle against the Spanish Habsburgs. Although the present state is still monarchical, the Netherlands functions as a modern constitutional democracy in which the king's position is almost comparable with a ceremonial presidency. The majority of the Dutch population, however, appreciates the hereditary political presence of the House of Orange-Nassau, regarding this dynasty as a symbol of national unity and connection with the country's past. This third edition of Historical Dictionary of the Netherlands contains a chronology, an introduction, appendixes, and an extensive bibliography. The dictionary section has over 900 cross-referenced entries on important personalities, politics, economy, foreign relations, religion, and culture. This book is an excellent access point for students, researchers, and anyone wanting to know more about the Netherlands. Breaching Boundaries Paul Maurice Clogan, 1994 Medievalia et Humanistica has won worldwide recognition as the first scholarly publication in America to devote itself exclusively to Medieval and Renaissance studies. The Building of Renaissance Florence Richard A. Goldthwaite, 1982-10 Patrons: The Guilds Strozzi family, Succchielli family Studies in the Reception of the Historia Scholastica of Peter Comestor Maria Sherwood-Smith, 2000 The Historia Scholastica circa 1170 mingles biblical narrative, Jewish legends, and commentary and was a popular source of biblical material for authors until the Reformation. Maria Sherwood-Smith gives an introduction to the sources and transmission of the Latin work before investigating its reception in detail in two thirteenth-century German works: the Schwarzwälder Predigten and the Weltchronik of Rudolf von Ems. Brief analyses of Jacob van Maerlant's Scholastica and the Historiebijbel van 1360 provide further context. Looking in this way at the different functions the work fulfils for later authors, one discerns a growing awareness of the distinction between it and the text of the Bible. It is suggested that this enhances the Historia Scholastica's reputation as a safeguard of orthodoxy.

Disaster, Death and the Emotions in the Shadow of the Apocalypse, 1400-1700 Jennifer Spinks, Charles Zika, 2016-09-23

In late medieval and early modern Europe textual and visual records of disaster and mass death allow us to encounter the intense emotions generated through the religious providential and apocalyptic frameworks that provided these events with meaning. This collection brings together historians, art historians and literary specialists in a cross disciplinary collection shaped by new developments in the history of emotions. It offers a rich range of analytical frameworks and case studies from the emotional language of divine providence to individual and communal experiences of disaster. Geographically wide ranging the collection also analyses many different sorts of media from letters and diaries to broadsheets and paintings. Through these and other historical records the contributors examine how communities and individuals experienced, responded to, recorded and managed the emotional dynamics and trauma created by dramatic events like massacres, floods, fires, earthquakes and plagues.

A Gust for Paradise Diane Kelsey McColley, 1993. This beautifully illustrated multidisciplinary study addresses interpretations of the Genesis creation story in Paradise Lost and other seventeenth century English poems and in the visual arts from the Middle Ages through the Reformation. It considers poems, visual images and music concerned with divine and human creativity and interprets these works as salutary examples for the creation of the arts and the preservation of the earth. The central topic is the daily work of body or mind of Adam and Eve in Paradise Lost as primal artists and caretakers of nature before the Fall, developing the arts of language, music, liturgy and government, discovering the rudiments of a technology harmless to the biosphere and dressing and keeping a garden that is an epitome of the whole earth. These unfallen arts promote awareness of the complex harmonies of creation and potentially of civilization, an awareness that is not only linear or binary but radiant and multiple, not only monodic but also choral. McColley argues that northern European visual artists and seventeenth century English poets reimagined Eden in order to re-Edenize the imagination as a source of ethical and ecological healing. The best known depictions of Adam and Eve in the visual arts, which focus on the drama of the Fall, depart from a widespread but undervalued tradition that is more celebratory and regenerative and less susceptible to misogynous interpretation. This tradition includes the neglected topos of original righteousness and contributes to what we would now call ecological awareness. Poets allied to this view foster Edenic consciousness by creating a Paradisaical language that weaves form, sound, image, metaphor, concept and experience as closely as nature weaves life and so exercises our sense of connections.

The Medieval Popular Bible Brian Murdoch, 2003. The presentation, the use and the possible reception of the book of Genesis to lay audience largely unable to read the original texts. What was meant by the medieval popular Bible, what was presented as biblical narrative to an audience largely unable to read the original biblical texts. Presentations in the vernacular languages of Europe of supposedly biblical episodes were more often than not expanded and interpreted, sometimes very considerably. This book looks at the presentation, the use and the possible lay reception of the book of Genesis using as wide a range of medieval genres and vernaculars as possible on a comparative basis, down to the Reformation Literatures taken into consideration include Irish Cornish English French High and Low German Spanish Italian and others Genesis was an important book and the focus is on those narrative high points which lend themselves most particularly it is never exclusive to literal expansion even though allegory can also work backwards into the literal narrative Starting with the devil in paradise who is not biblical the book examines what Adam and Eve did afterwards who killed Cain what happened in the flood or at the tower of Babel and ends with a consideration of the careers of Jacob and Joseph The book is based on the Speaker's Lectures given in 2002 in the University of Oxford BRIAN MURDOCH is Professor of German at the University of Stirling
