The Gospel For A World Of Sin:

The Gospel for a World of Sin Henry Van Dyke, 1899 The Gospel for a World of Sin Henry Van Dyke, 2015-08-14 Those who have been fortunate enough to read The Gospel for an Age of Doubt by Dr Henry Van Dyke will welcome this companion volume Dr Van Dyke's style is always simple direct and convincing One epigram following hard upon another gives added force to the treatment of the subject Dr Van Dyke has not given us anything startlingly new but he has said things in a new and attractive way Something of the style may be gathered from the following excerpt Doubt is the blinding mist that rises between man's spiritual vision and the eternal truth Sin is the great gulf that separates man's moral character from the divine ideal The pain of doubt is an evidence that man was made for faith The shame of sin is an evidence that man was created for holiness A gospel for humanity must be good news both for doubters and sinners its sympathy will always be the measure of its power Dr Van Dyke is expectant hopeful he believes in a renaissance of religion The educated youth of today are turning with a mighty world wide movement toward the banner of a militant expectant imperial Christianity While the sins of the world are many the sin of the world is one The desire of good and the recognition of evil are the two facts around which human society is organized The necessity of evil is denied for the practical knowledge of the nature of evil comes to us through the same moral sense which makes us aware of its existence The sense of sin is God's unbroken hold upon the heart of man A considerable portion of the book is devoted to a discussion of the atonement The subject is not handled in the usual way A definition is scarcely attempted although when one has finished the book he has a very clear idea at least of what Dr Van Dyke understands by the atonement To attempt to define atonement would be to attempt the impossible The work of Christ for the saving of sinners can never be confined within the phrases which men invent to describe what they can see of it It overflows the boundaries Its fullness makes it indefinable Another reason which the author gives for not attempting to define atonement is that the very attempt to define it has so often led to misconception and strife between men who believed in it with equal sincerity and after this he goes on to say that a third reason why definition is not attempted is because none is needed The word is clear enough and plain enough already It denotes a certain mystery the entire work of Christ in reuniting man to God the perfect result of that work in the establishment of peace between man and God the redeeming relation of that work to human sin the satisfying relation of that work to divine righteousness it denotes a mystery but it denotes it in language which brings it into analogy with things that we know and throws upon it light enough to enable us to see at least some of its essential elements which after all may be taken as a fairly clear exposition of what atonement is Public Opinion Volume 27 1899 The Gospel for a World of Sin Henry Van Dyke, 2019-05-29 Those who have been fortunate enough to read The Gospel for an Age of Doubt by Dr Henry Van Dyke will welcome this companion volume Dr Van Dyke's style is always simple direct and convincing One epigram following hard upon another gives added force to the treatment of the subject Dr Van Dyke has not given us anything startlingly new but he has said things in a new and attractive way Something of the style may be gathered from the following excerpt Doubt is the blinding mist that rises between man's spiritual vision and the eternal truth Sin is the great gulf that separates man's moral character from the divine ideal The pain of doubt is an evidence that man was made for faith The shame of sin is an evidence that man was created for holiness A gospel for humanity must be good news both for doubters and sinners its sympathy will always be the measure of its power Dr Van Dyke is expectant hopeful he believes in a renaissance of religion The educated youth of today are turning with a mighty world wide movement toward the banner of a militant expectant imperial Christianity While the sins of the world are many the sin of the world is one The desire of good and the recognition of evil are the two facts around which human society is organized The necessity of evil is denied for the practical knowledge of the nature of evil comes to us through the same moral sense which makes us aware of its existence The sense of sin is God's unbroken hold upon the heart of man A considerable portion of the book is devoted to a discussion of the atonement The subject is not handled in the usual way A definition is scarcely attempted although when one has finished the book he has a very clear idea at least of what Dr Van Dyke understands by the atonement To attempt to define atonement would be to attempt the impossible The work of Christ for the saving of sinners can never be confined within the phrases which men invent to describe what they can see of it It overflows the boundaries Its fullness makes it indefinable Another reason which the author gives for not attempting to define atonement is that the very attempt to define it has so often led to misconception and strife between men who believed in it with equal sincerity and after this he goes on to say that a third reason why definition is not attempted is because none is needed The word is clear enough and plain enough already It denotes a certain mystery the entire work of Christ in reuniting man to God the perfect result of that work in the establishment of peace between man and God the redeeming relation of that work to human sin the satisfying relation of that work to divine righteousness it denotes a mystery but it denotes it in language which brings it into analogy with things that we know and throws upon it light enough to enable us to see at least some of its essential elements which after all may be taken as a fairly clear exposition of what atonement is

The Church Made Strange for the Nations Paul G. Doerksen,Karl Koop,2011-09-22 Christians have sometimes professed that the church ought to be in the world but not of it yet the meaning and significance of this conviction has continued to challenge and confound In the context of persecution Christians in the ancient world tended to distance themselves from the social and civic mainstream while in the medieval and early modern periods the church and secular authorities often worked in close relationship sharing the role of shaping society In a post Christendom era this latter arrangement has been heavily critiqued and largely dismantled but there is no consensus in Christian thought as to what the alternative should be The present collection of essays offers new perspectives on this subject matter drawing on sometimes widely disparate interlocutors ancient and modern biblical and secular Readers will find these essays challenging and thought provoking

The Glory of the Atonement Charles E. Hill, Frank A. James III,2004-03-30 Editors Charles E Hill and Frank A James III bring together a group of evangelical biblical scholars and historical and systematic theologians to explore the doctrine of the atonement for a new millennium

Expositions of Holy Scripture: St John Volumes I & II Alexander Maclaren,2017-06 More of a series of sermons than a proper commentary these sermons help to illustrate the powerful word of the incarnate Christ to the world through the evangelist John Although this work does not just pull scripture from this respective Gospel but rather from all over the Bible MacLaren is able to take different texts to make a clear and coherent whole Have you truly been born again of water and the Spirit? Rev. Paul C. Jong, This title s main subject is to be born again of Water and the Spirit It has the originality on the subject In other words this book clearly tells us what being born again is and how to be born again of water and the Spirit in strict accordance with the Bible The water symbolizes the baptism of Jesus at the Jordan and the Bible says that all our sins were passed on to Jesus when He was baptized by John the Baptist John was the representative of all mankind and a descendant of Aaron the High priest Aaron laid his hands on the head of the scapegoat and passed all the yearly sins of the Israelites onto it on the Day of Atonement It is a shadow of the good things to come The baptism of Jesus is the antitype of the laying on of hands Jesus was baptized in the form of the laying on of hands at the Jordan So He took away all the sins of the world through His baptism and was crucified to pay for the sins But most Christians don't know why Jesus was baptized by John the Baptist in the Jordan Jesus baptism is the keyword of this book and the indispensable part of the Gospel of Water and the Spirit We can be born again only by believing in the baptism of Jesus and His Cross
