The great comet of 1680; a study in the history of rationalism, by James Howard Robinson Howard Robinson,1916 James Sprunt Studies in History and Political Science ,1926 The Secularization of Early Modern England C. John Sommerville,1992-04-09 This study overcomes the ambiguity and daunting scale of the subject of secularization by using the insights of anthropology and sociology and by examining an earlier period than usually considered Concentrating not only on a decline of religious belief which is the last aspect of secularization this study shows that a transformation of England s cultural grammar had to precede that loosening of belief and that this was largely accomplished between 1500 and 1700 Only when definitions of space and time changed and language and technology were transformed as well as art and play could a secular world view be sustained As aspects of daily life became divorced from religious values and controls religious culture was supplanted by religious faith a reasoned rather than an unquestioned belief in the supernatural Sommerville shows that this process was more political and theological than economic or social The Early Enlightenment in the Dutch Republic, 1650-1750 Wiep van Bunge,2003-09-01 This book contains twelve essays by prominent historians from the Netherlands Belgium and the United States on the early Enlightenment in the Dutch Republic In the wake of the increased awareness of the importance of this particular period for the European Enlightenment as a whole they focus on Cartesianism Spinozism and Empiricism the three main schools of thought that made up its philosophical profile The first part of the book highlights the academic infrastructure of the Dutch Republic and the theological response to the Radical Enlightenment The second and third parts concentrate on the philosophical and the scientific developments in the Dutch Republic from 1650 to 1750 The final part of this book deals with the international proliferation of the Dutch Radical Enlightenment and with the way in which its main protagonists have been ignored by Dutch historiography Contributors include Wiep van Bunge Andrew Fix Jonathan Israel Eric Jorink Henri Krop Wijnand Mijnhardt Han van Ruler Paul Schuurman Geert Vanpaemel Hans de Waardt Ernestine van der Wall and Michiel Wielema A List of American

The American Historical Review John Franklin Jameson, Henry Eldridge Bourne, Robert Livingston Schuyler, 1917 American Historical Review is the oldest scholarly journal of history in the United States and the largest in the world Published by the American Historical Association it covers all areas of historical research The James Sprunt Historical Publications, 1920 Comets, Popular Culture, and the Birth of Modern Cosmology Sara Schechner Genuth, 2021-03-09 In a lively investigation into the boundaries between popular culture and early modern science Sara Schechner presents a case study that challenges the view that rationalism was at odds with popular belief in the development of scientific theories Schechner Genuth delineates the evolution of people's understanding of comets showing that until the seventeenth century all members of society dreaded comets as heaven sent portents of plague flood civil disorder and other calamities Although these beliefs became spurned as vulgar superstitions by the elite before the end of the century she shows that they were nonetheless absorbed into the science of Newton and Halley contributing to their theories in subtle yet profound ways Schechner weaves together many strands of thought views of comets as signs and causes of social and physical changes vigilance toward monsters and prodigies as indicators of God's will Christian eschatology scientific interpretations of Scripture astrological prognostication and political propaganda and celestial mechanics and astrophysics This exploration of the interplay between high and low beliefs about nature leads to the conclusion that popular and long held views of comets as divine signs were not overturned by astronomical discoveries Indeed they became part of the foundation on which modern cosmology was built
