Coastal Towns in Transition Raymond James Green, 2009-12-13 Many coastal areas around the world are experiencing dramatic landscape changes as a result of increased tourism development and the sea change phenomenon the migration of affluent urbanites to small coastal towns seeking beautiful natural surroundings In response to these changes local residents in these places often complain that the distinctive character of their towns and or individual neighborhoods is being lost or degraded Coastal Towns in Transition looks at how changes due to unsympathetic development of the built environment and modification of the natural landscape are perceived to negatively impact on the character of small coastal towns The book explores the concept of town character and associated notions of sense of place genius loci and place identity as conceptualised by local residents in several coastal town communities along Australia's Great Ocean Road Findings of a four year study involving over 1800 respondents from these communities are used to explore theoretical and methodological issues associated with the assessment of place character in the context of coastal towns that are experiencing rapid environmental change This book will be of interest to planners and environmental designers as well as scholars in both landscape studies and social science and planning fields who are interested in the sustainable development of coastal areas The case studies and associated planning and design strategies together with the bibliography of selected relevant literature will provide an invaluable reference for these scholars

Along the Great Ocean Road, Victoria Avis Quarrell, 1986 Roads, Tourism and Cultural History Rosemary Kerr, 2018-12-20 Roads and road tourism loom large in the Australian imagination as distance and mobility have shaped the nation's history and culture but roads are more than simply transport routes they embody multiple layers of history mythology and symbolism Drawing on Australian travel writing diaries and manuscripts tourism literature fiction poetry and feature films this book explores how Australians have experienced and imagined roads and road touring beyond urban settings from Aboriginal songlines to modern day road trips It also tells the stories of iconic roads including the Birdsville Track Stuart Highway and Great Ocean Road and suggests alternative approaches to heritage and tourism interpretation of these important routes The ongoing impact of the colonial past on Indigenous peoples and contemporary Australian society and culture including representations of the road and road travel is explored throughout the book The volume offers a new way of thinking about roads and road tourism as important strands in a nation's cultural fabric The Great Ocean Road Bryce Dunkley, 2015-10-01 38 South Nigel Bertram, Shane Murray, 2005 38 south is the document of record for urban focused architectural research from the School of Architecture and Design at RMIT University In this issue the publication assumes its new role of presenting research from the Urban Architecture Laboratory The UAL was established in 2002 with the explicit aim of providing a specialised research environment for intensive and focussed architectural research that engages with contemporary urban issues This edition of 38 south is a progress report on the activities of UAL over its first two and a half years As such this body of work from candidates in the program provides both reflective and prospective interpretations of our evolving understanding of the role that the laboratory can play Ed
