

A River

In Madurai,
city of temples and poets, who sang of cities and temples, every summer
a river dries to a trickle in the sand,
baring the sand ribs,
straw and women's hair
clogging the watergates at the rusty bars
under the bridges with patches of repair all over them the wet stones glistening like sleepy crocodiles, the dry ones shaven water-buffaloes lounging in the sun
The poets only sang of the floods.

He was there for a day when they had the floods.
People everywhere talked of the inches rising, of the precise number of cobbled steps run over by the water, rising on the bathing places, and the way it carried off three village houses, one pregnant woman and a couple of cows named Gopi and Brinda as usual.

The new poets still quoted established by The Great Preface to The Book of Songs and by the poetry of the Han Wei and Jin periods In so doing decadent poetry formed a poetic genre with a unique complex and self reflexive verbal system The rich and complex nature of decadent poetry gives it remarkable resilience in the face of violent condemnation by traditional criticism and allows its successful negotiation with and integration into the canonical tradition Decadent poetry is not a marginal trend as it has been commonly perceived but rather a vital part of the Chinese poetic tradition The Kansas City Public Library Quarterly
