meetings and conversations at the Parliament of the World's Religions in 1893 he had decided that Buddhism was the closest faith to his ideal and created The Gospel of Buddha to popularize the religion in the West. The work was assembled from existing English translations of Buddhist texts with significant amendments and reworkings. His selection of texts favoured Buddhism as a philosophy without any supernatural elements. While criticized by contemporary scholars, this interpretation proved popular in the West, leading to a number of reprintings. It also influenced the development of Modern Buddhism in the 18th century in East Asia, notably in a Japanese translation of the book by D.T. Suzuki. For years afterwards, Carus was a strong sympathizer of Buddhist ideas but stopped short of committing fully to this or any other religion. Instead, he ceaselessly promoted his own rational concept which he called the Religion of Science. Carus had a selective approach and he believed that religions evolve over time. After a battle for survival, he expected a cosmic religion of universal truth to emerge from the ashes of traditional beliefs.

The Gospel of Buddha, Compiled from Ancient Records Paul Carus, 2014-02-17. Rejoice at the glad tidings. The Buddha, our Lord, has found the root of all evil; he has shown us the way of salvation. The Buddha dispels the illusions of our mind and redeems us from the terror of death. The Buddha, our Lord, brings comfort to the weary and sorrow-laden; he restores peace to those who are broken down under the burden of life. He gives courage to the weak when they would fain give up self-reliance and hope. Ye that suffer from the tribulations of life, ye that have to struggle and endure, ye that yearn for a life of truth, rejoice at the glad tidings. There is balm for the wounded and there is bread for the hungry. There is water for the thirsty and there is hope for the despairing. There is light for those in darkness and there is inexhaustible blessing for the upright.

Kopetzky, Paul Carus, 2020-12-21. The Gospel of Buddha was first published in 1894. It soon became a worldwide bestseller, completely eclipsing the one previous attempt to popularize Buddhism in the West: Sir Edwin Arnold's The Light of Asia. Carus collected accounts of the life and teaching of the Buddha from many sources and fashioned a coherent and gripping narrative which would be understood by Americans as very much like a Christian gospel. The Gospel of Buddha was quickly translated into Japanese and other Eastern languages and was taken up by teachers in the Buddhist world. This Gospel tells the story of the Prince Siddhattha, raised by his parents to be ignorant of all evil and suffering, and then was traumatically confronted by the spectacle of old age, sickness, and death. Giving up his family and his kingdom to seek Enlightenment, Siddhattha became a holy man, asking questions of religious authorities and practicing abstention. Then he found Enlightenment and became the Buddha when he understood the Four Noble Truths and became a travelling preacher spreading the word of the new religion based on freedom from suffering by renunciation of the ego. The Gospel of Buddha According to Old Records Paul Carus, 1917. The Gospel of Buddha Paul Carus, 2017-10-14. Originally published in 1894, this book was one of the first introductions of Buddhism to the West. In particular, the topic is approached from a Christian point of view, showing parallels between the teachings of the two faiths and between their respective holy figures. This edition contains the beautiful original images and is often recommended to Christians wishing to learn more about the teachings of Buddhism. Paul Carus had an obvious and deep respect for Buddhism and other Eastern traditions, and that shines through in this work. It contains fine descriptions of the Four Noble Truths and the Eightfold Path, as well as many parables of the Buddha. Where documents have been translated while they would doubtless have been translated differently these days, they have been done so with great sensitivity.
