s agricultural systems and the transformation of its plains from diverse forestland and steppes to farmland He argues that the growth of states in ancient China and elsewhere was based on their ability to exploit the labor and resources of those who harnessed photosynthetic energy from domesticated plants and animals Focusing on the state of Qin Lander amalgamates abundant new scientific archaeological and excavated documentary sources to argue that the human domination of the central Yellow River region and the rest of the planet was made possible by the development of complex political structures that managed and expanded agroecosystems Keith Roberts Paul Kincaid, 1983
