Elements of Semiology Roland Barthes, 1977-04 In his Course in General Linguistics first published in 1916 Saussure postulated the existence of a general science of signs or Semiology of which linguistics would form only one part Semiology therefore aims to take in any system of signs whatever their substance and limits images gestures musical sounds objects and the complex associations of all these which form the content of ritual convention or public entertainment these constitute if not languages at least systems of signification The Elements here presented have as their sole aim the extraction from linguistics of analytical concepts which we think a priori to be sufficiently general to start semiological research on its way In assembling them it is not presupposed that they will remain intact during the course of research nor that semiology will always be forced to follow the linguistic model closely We are merely suggesting and elucidating a terminology in the hope that it may enable an initial albeit provisional order to be introduced into the heterogeneous mass of significant facts In fact what we purport to do is furnish a principle of classification of the questions These elements of semiology will therefore be grouped under four main headings borrowed from structural linguistics I Language and Speech II Signified and Signifier III Syntagm and System IV Denotation and Connotation Roland Barthes from his Introduction A Dictionary of Literary

Ricoeur, Literature and Imagination Sophie Vlacos, 2015-08-27 To explain more is to understand better This is the mantra by which French philosopher Paul Ricoeur lived and worked establishing himself as one of the twentieth century s most lucid and broad ranging critical thinkers A prisoner of war at 27 Ricoeur was also Dean of Paris X Nanterre during the student disturbances of 1968 In later years he became an outspoken champion of social justice In work as in life Ricoeur was committed to the challenges of conflict and the prospect of authentic resolution Deeply indebted to phenomenology and the hermeneutical tradition of Heidegger and Gadamer Ricoeur was also an advocate of structural linguistics of psychoanalysis and a rare conversant with the Anglo American analytic tradition This volume explores how literature and the conflicts of literary theoretical debate inform Ricoeur s theory of imagination and understanding and how Ricoeur s unique mode of literary reflection resolves the conflicts of literature s theoretical heyday presaging a new direction for literary studies

Speech Act Phenomenology R.L. Lanigan, 2012-12-06 The nature and function of language as Man s chief vehicle of communication occupies a focal position in the human sciences particularly in philosophy The concept of communication is problematic because it suggests both meaning the nature of language and the activity of speaking the function of language The philosophic theory of speech acts is one attempt to clarify the ambiguities of speech as both the use of language to describe states of affair and the process in which that description is generated as communication The present study Speech Act Phenomenology is in part an examination of speech act theory The theory offers an explanation for speech performance that is the structure of speech acts as relationships and the content of speech acts as meaning The primary statement of the speech act theory that is examined is that presented by Austin A secondary concern is the formulation of the theory as presented by Searle and Grice The limitations of the speech act theory are specified by applying the theory as an explanation of human communication This conceptual examination of communication suggests that the philosophic method of analysis does not resolve the antinomy of language nature and function Basically the conceptual distinctions of the speech act theory i.e locutions illocutions and perlocutions are found to be empty as a comprehensive explanation of the concept communication is widely accepted on the international scene as a new name for the study of human communication. It replaces several equivocal disciplinary conceptions such as communication which may fail to distinguish the science of communication from its object of investigation or the message centered communication studies which often obfuscates information exchange with the experience of shared meaning in human encounters. Communicology differs from the American mainstream social science of communication not only because it is grounded in communication theory rather than information theory but also because it advances a philosophically informed ecological perspective on human discourse. This book is intended as a contribution to the philosophy of communication and the human science of communicology. Semiotic phenomenology is thoroughly described as the synthetic logic that combines a philosophy of consciousness with a science of culture and conduct to explicate the lifeworld habitus. Consciousness is viewed as cultural semiotic and experience as personal phenomenological. This is a reciprocal reflexive relationship in which culture is conceived as consciousness of communication and communication the manifest experience of culture. The book describes embodiment so conceived including the history of the matrix idea in American pragmatism and European philosophy as they commingled in the United States to produce a unique discipline of communication the science of embodied discourse. Important roots of this new discipline are described for the first time here in a unique synthesis of C. S. Peirce, John Dewey, Gregory Bateson and Pierre Bourdieu. In addition the semiotic relativity hypothesis is argued to be an important implication of this new discipline. Transcending the stale debate on language and thought the limited conception of linguistic relativity is considerably broadened and deepened. The distinctive lifeworld of humans is argued to occur at the threshold of sign consciousness in the semiotic matrix of culture society person. Semiotic phenomenology is not only a synthesis of two great European philosophical movements structuralism and phenomenology it is also the essence of American pragmatism. This view culminates in the contemporary human science of communicology.

Semiotics Tejera, 2022-08-01 The Semiotic Web 1989 Thomas A. Sebeok, Jean Umiker-Sebeok, 2011-10-13 No detailed description available for The Semiotic Web 1989 Semiotic Praxis Georges Mounin, 2013-03-13 Catherine Tihanyi. Georges Mounin, an important figure in contemporary French intellectual life, has made significant and original contributions in semiotics, semantics, poetics, the linguistic theory and practice of translation, and the study of the history of linguistics. He is noted as well for several decades of literary criticism in support of poets who were often unknown at the time. Though some of his work has been translated into German, Italian, and Spanish, only a few articles have been available so far in English. Mounin 1974, 1976, 1980, 1981; thus the present collection is the first full length volume of Mounin's works to be translated into English. The contents of Semiotic Praxis reflect Mounin's life long concern to apply semiotic theory to concrete objects. In so doing he has attempted to demonstrate the usefulness of semiotics to test and clarify its theoretical constructs and modify them accordingly and to help lay down its scientific foundations and map its boundaries as a discipline.
