George Saintsbury A History of Nineteenth Century Literature In the growth of English short fiction Barham's work looms larger yet Many a good story and tale are scattered through the corpus of English fiction prior to the 1830s but it is not I think an exaggeration to claim Barham as the first consistent English writer of the true short story

Wendall V Harris British Short Fiction in the Nineteenth Century Richard Barham was a genuine poet who exerts a peculiar spell A man of some property in Kent a minor canon of St Paul's Cathedral an amateur but learned antiquary he wrote mainly to amuse himself and his verse has a spontaneity of unexpected rhyming and reckless imagination that makes it different from anybody else's Barham was gifted with some special genius which makes his meters and rhyming as catching as music so that they run in your head after reading

Walter Hamilton Parodies of the Works of English and American Authors Barham brought exceptional qualities to the development of his particular art He was a wit and his initial success was won by his startling originality Not only did he adapt the Gallic spirit and conte to the exigencies of the English language his blending of saints and demons ghosts and abbots monkish legend and romance antiquarian lore and classical knowledge murder and crime with his own freakish and whimsical sense of humour his lightning leaps from grave to gay his quaint verbal quips his wealth of
