Speaking in Queer Tongues William Leap, Tom Boellstorff, 2004 Language is a fundamental tool for shaping identity and community including the expression or repression of sexual desire Speaking in Queer Tongues investigates the tensions and adaptations that occur when processes of globalization bring one system of gay or lesbian language into contact with another Western constructions of gay culture are now circulating widely beyond the boundaries of Western nations due to influences as diverse as Internet communication global dissemination of entertainment and other media increased travel and tourism migration displacement and transnational citizenship The authority claimed by these constructions and by the linguistic codes embedded in them is causing them to have a profound impact on public and private expressions of homosexuality in locations as diverse as sub Saharan Africa New Zealand Indonesia and Israel Examining a wide range of global cultures Speaking in Queer Tongues presents essays on topics that include old versus new sexual vocabularies the rhetoric of gay oriented magazines and news media verbal and nonverbalized sexual imagery in poetry and popular culture and the linguistic consequences of the globalized gay rights movement

Other Indonesians James Joseph Errington, 2022 In 1928 members of a young subaltern Indonesian elite pirated the language of the Dutch empire bringing the Indonesian language into being along with its nation Today Indonesian is the language of two hundred and forty million citizens but is the native language of no one Through rich analysis focused on the interplay of language varieties in two remote Indonesian provinces Other Indonesians describes the unique language dynamic which has enabled the development of modern democratic Indonesia Complicating binaries that pit low against high Indonesian or standard against mixed J Joseph Errington argues that it is precisely the un ethnic non territorial quality of Indonesian that enables its speakers to express themselves as members of a national community This detailed account locates Indonesian not only within the institutions which give it distinctive value in the nation but also in the biographies of its young educated speakers With a nuanced understanding of national identity this book shows how careful analysis of Indonesia can provide insight into broader dynamics of postcolonial nationalism in a globalizing world

Visual Research and Indonesian Ethnography Karl Heider, 2021-09-28 This book focuses on how visual records mainly on film or video can provide data for research and presents a variety of visual projects drawn from ethnographic fieldwork in Indonesia Karl Heider argues for the expansion of visual anthropology or anthropology with a camera beyond descriptive ethnographic film into actual use of the camera as a research tool The chapters explore several ways in which camera generated materials can complement and support what anthropologists already do in their research Heider includes samples from fieldwork in Indonesia conducted over a number of years particularly in New Guinea and Sumatra with groups including the Dani and Minangkabau His studies combine visual and psychological anthropology and provides insight into the analysis of emotions in particular Intended to inspire new approaches to the ethnographic enterprise the book is valuable for scholars of visual anthropology and Southeast Asia

Multilingualism in the Chinese Diaspora Worldwide Li Wei, 2015-10-16 In this volume Li Wei brings together contributions from well known and emerging scholars in socio and anthropological linguistics working on different linguistic and communicative aspects of the Chinese diaspora The project examines the Chinese diasporic experience from a global comparative perspective with a particular focus on transnational links and local social and multilingual realities Contributors address the emergence of new forms of Chinese in multilingual contexts family language policy and practice language socialization and identity development multilingual creativity linguistic attitudes and ideologies and heritage language maintenance loss learning and re learning The studies are based on empirical observations and investigations in Chinese communities across the globe including well researched from a sociolinguistic perspective areas such as North America Western Europe and Australia as well as under explored and under represented areas such as Africa Latin America Central Asia and the Middle East the volume also includes detailed ethnographic accounts representing regions with a high concentration of Chinese migration such as Southeast Asia This volume not only will allow sociolinguists to investigate the link between linguistic phenomena in specific communities and wider socio cultural processes but also invites an open dialogue with researchers from other disciplines who are working on migration diaspora and identity and those studying other language based diasporic communities such as the Russian diaspora the Spanish diaspora the Portuguese diaspora and the Arabic diaspora

Unpacking Discourses on Chineseness Shuang Gao, Xuan Wang, 2021-09-09 This book examines the complexity of Chineseness in China and the Chinese diaspora Using critical sociolinguistic and discourse analytical approaches the chapters reveal the power dynamics and ideologies underlying the varied ways Chineseness is performed represented and contested Together they highlight four perspectives on Chineseness the multiplicity of Chineseness aspirational Chineseness chronotopes of Chineseness and the cultural politics of Chineseness It is argued that Chineseness is best understood as an ideologically constructed variable the articulation of which is deeply embedded within the dynamics of neoliberal globalization rising nationalism persistent Western hegemony and shifting global geopolitics

Word stress in prosodic theory Constantijn Kaland, 2025-05-20 This book is composed of four studies that all investigate different aspects of word stress in Papuan Malay an Austronesian language spoken in eastern Indonesia These aspects in order of presentation include acoustic realisation auditory perception lexical analyses and word disambiguation The introduction provides the theoretical background against which the studies are undertaken All studies are empirical in nature they either report acoustic analyses production or perception experiments or corpus based analyses Taken together the results of all studies pose a challenge to maintaining a stressless analysis of Papuan Malay At the same time the type of word stress that emerges from the reported results is unlike its common theoretical conception and therefore requires more work to be integrated in prosodic theory Given the controversy on word stress in Indonesian languages the results are always discussed and carefully interpreted in a cross linguistic context In this way the current thesis extends and deepens our knowledge and understanding of word stress in prosodic theory

Linguistics for Intercultural Education Fred Dervin, Anthony J. Liddicoat, 2013-04-24 The issue of intercultural learning has been tackled amongst others in the fields of education language education and applied linguistics In spite of the extensive literature on the subject there is still much which needs to be done to address the ways in which linguistics itself can contribute to intercultural education The 8 chapters by internationally renowned scholars highlight different ways of using it both in the classroom and in researching intercultural education The following approaches are covered Critical Discourse Analysis nonciation Conversation Analysis and Pragmatics The introduction to the volume also offers a useful and comprehensive survey of the debates around the polysemic notion of the intercultural The book will appeal to an international readership of students scholars and professionals across a wide range of disciplines interested in making intercultural education more effective

Kalimantan's Ethnic Chinese Youth Jessica Kruk, 2025-09-26 This book explores how minoritized languages and identities are impacted by deglobalization marked by increased state control declining global market power and growing repression of civil liberties As nations tighten borders and prioritize unity many minoritized groups are losing their rights to speak their languages and express their cultural identities Focusing on Chinese diasporan youth in Indonesia this book examines how individuals navigate their identities in an environment where speaking Chinese is often seen as a threat Through analysis of everyday interactions and interviews with young Chinese Indonesians this book disrupts state driven narratives that position Chinese language and culture as incompatible with Indonesianness Instead it paints a complex picture of contemporary Chineseness and Indonesianness with some young diasporans aligning with a nationalizing discourse that prioritizes standard Indonesian others striving to sustain their Chineseness amid these pressures and many other still navigating pathways in between By using the Indonesian context to highlight the necessity of a deglobalization paradigm within sociolinguistics this book offers fresh insights into language and identity in our rapidly changing societies It is an important read for scholars in linguistics anthropology and Asian studies as well as policymakers educators and anyone interested in the intersections of language identity and power More than just an academic study it serves as a resource for Chinese Indonesians and other diasporan communities seeking to discuss understand and reclaim their histories cultures and languages in an era of repression
