Spinifex and Sand David Wynford Carnegie, 2022-06-02 Spinifex and Sand is a travelogue by David Wynford Carnegie In 1896 1897 the Hon David Wynford Carnegie born in 1871 the youngest son of the Earl of Southesk led one of the last great expeditions in the exploration of Australia His route from Lake Darl t to Halls Creek and return took thirteen months and covered over three thousand miles Carnegie financed his expedition from the results of a successful gold strike at Lake Darl t The following pages profess to be no more than a faithful narrative of five years spent on the goldfields and in the far interior of Western Australia Labour Lines and Colonial Power Victoria Stead, Jon Altman, 2019-08-16 Today increases of so called low skilled and temporary labour migrations of Pacific Islanders to Australia occur alongside calls for Indigenous people to orbit from remote communities in search of employment opportunities These trends reflect the persistent neoliberalism within contemporary Australia as well as the effects of structural dynamics within the global agriculture and resource extractive industries They also unfold within the context of long and troubled histories of Australian colonialism and of complexes of race labour and mobility that reverberate through that history and into the present The contemporary labour of Pacific Islanders in the horticultural industry has sinister historical echoes in the blackbirding of South Sea Islanders to work on sugar plantations in New South Wales and Queensland in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries as well as in wider patterns of labour trade and colonisation across the Pacific region The antecedents of contemporary Indigenous labour mobility meanwhile include forms of unwaged and highly exploitative labouring on government settlements missions pastoral stations and in the pearling industry For both Pacific Islanders and Indigenous people though labour mobilities past and present also include agentive and purposeful migrations reflective of rich cultures and histories of mobility as well as of forces that compel both movement and immobility Drawing together historians anthropologists sociologists and geographers this book critically explores experiences of labour mobility by Indigenous peoples and Pacific Islanders including M ori within Australia Locating these new expressions of labour mobility within historical patterns of movement contributors interrogate the contours and continuities of Australian coloniality in its diverse and interconnected expressions The Journal of the many the dawn of the twentieth century ushered in an era where the world map had few if any blank spaces left to discover The age of exploration was supposedly dead New Spaces of Exploration challenges this assumption Focusing specifically on exploration in the twentieth century the authors demonstrate how new technologies and changing geopolitical configurations have ensured that exploration has remained a key feature of our rapidly globalizing world Ranging widely in their geographical focus from the Europe and Asia to Australia and from the polar regions to outer space they demonstrate the increasing diversity of modern exploration and reveal the continuing political military industrial and cultural motivations at play The result is a major contribution to our understanding of the significance of exploration in the twentieth century Contributors include E Baigent C Collis K Dodds F Driver M Godwin J Hill F Korsmo F MacDonald S Naylor J Ryan N Thomas and K Yusoff Publishers' circular and booksellers' record ,1899 The Publishers' Circular and Booksellers' Record of British and Foreign Literature ,1898 The A to Z of the Discovery and Exploration of Australia Alan Day,2009-06-19 This engaging reference examines the history of the search for and the discovery of Australia taking full account of the evidence for and the speculation surrounding possible earlier contacts by the Ancient Egyptians Arabs and Chinese seamen Day brings the expeditions to life expressing the desires that drove great sea captains deeper into turbulent waters searching for caches of spice silks and precious metals Covers a wide variety of topics including Seamen from eight nations The recovery of storm wrecked ships Diplomatic treaties Priority of discovery disputes Military and civil explorers and surveyors Topographical features Geographical terms and places Rivers and river system The Last Blank Spaces Dane Kennedy,2013-03-01 The challenge of opening Africa and Australia to British imperial influence fell to a coterie of proto professional explorers who sought knowledge adventure and fame but often experienced confusion fear and failure Kennedy follows the arc of these explorations from idea to practice intention to outcome myth to reality Scottish Geographical Magazine ,1899 Frontiers of Taste Zane Ma Rhea,2016-07-28 This book provides a critical multiperspective sociohistorical analysis of the role of food in postcolonial Indigenous British and French settler relations Drawing on archival resources from Australian explorers settlers and nation builders the book argues that contemporary issues of food security sovereignty and sustainability have been significantly shaped by the colonial impact on human foodways The author goes on to enhance readers understanding of how contact between inhabitants and newcomers was shaped and informed by food and how these engagements established a modus vivendi that carries through to the present day Based on the assessment of archival records it uses a comparative socio historical lens to investigate contact between Indigenous and non Indigenous people where the exchange of food or knowledge about food took place It finds that the transfer of food and food knowledge was multifaceted and the flow of food knowledge occurred in both directions although these exchanges were neither symmetrical nor balanced It also analyzes and discusses food as a focal point of activity The final chapter offers an assessment of the potential for the development of a sustainable nutritious tasty Australian cuisine that moves beyond the tropes and stereotypical narratives embedded into colonial Indigenous settler relations in the context of food If this was accepted by all Australians it would allow opportunities to be created for Indigenous Australians to develop food products for the market that are sustainable economically viable and developed in ways that are culturally appropriate Drought Country Robert Godfree,2025-02-03 Droughts have lurked behind Australia s major nation shaping moments from European settlement at Port Jackson to Federation They have caused catastrophic damage to Aboriginal colonial and modern societies and of course to the very land itself Indeed by depriving us of water that element most fundamental to life droughts cut to the very essence of living in Australia Weaving historical accounts with scientific theory Robert Godfree will take you on a journey through the most brutal Australian droughts of the past three centuries encountering mythmaking colonialism smallpox economic depression a dust bowl heatwaves ecosystem collapse and the coming of the second age of coal With analysis and insights informed by his childhood in rural Australia and career in research science he reflects on the choices made during each of these crises and looks to the future of what is becoming a more volatile and human dominated continent Drought Country is a timely exploration of this continent s harsh climate providing useful insights for land managers the scientific community environmentalists and general readers Subverting the Empire Paul Genoni,2004 This paper examines the way in which contemporary Australian novelists use various tropes derived from exploration in order to embellish themes of personal search in their fiction By doing so they have borrowed from the language and myths created by what was essentially an exercise in imperialism and applied them to the quest by individuals in the settler society to find a permanent spiritual home in the new country The exploration imagery proves to be apposite in that just as the empire s hopes were dashed when exploration of the inland was repelled by the barren heart of the continent so too has the metaphysical exploration of the same spaces foundered on uncompromising and withholding landscapes Imperial Boredom Jeffrey A. Auerbach,2018 Imperial Boredom offers a radical reconsideration of the British Empire during its heyday in the nineteenth century Challenging the long established view that the empire was about adventure and excitement with heroic men and intrepid women eagerly spreading commerce and civilization around the globe this thoroughly researched engagingly written and lavishly illustrated account suggests instead that boredom was central to the experience of empire Combining individual stories of pain and perseverance with broader analysis Professor Auerbach considers what it was actually like to sail to Australia to serve as a soldier in South Africa or to accompany a colonial official to the hill stations of India He reveals that for numerous men and women from explorers to governors tourists to settlers the Victorian Empire was dull and disappointing Drawing on diaries letters memoirs and travelogues Imperial Boredom demonstrates that all across the empire men and women found the landscapes monotonous the physical and psychological distance from home debilitating the routines of everyday life wearisome and their work tedious and unfulfilling The empire s early years may have been about wonder and marvel but the Victorian Empire was a far less exciting project Many books about the British Empire focus on what happened this book concentrates on how people felt Fun on the billiard table, tricks and games for amateurs Stancliffe (pseud.),1900 Library Bulletin Mechanics' Institute (San Francisco, Calif.),1898 Bulletin Mechanics' Institute (San Francisco, Calif.).
