Education in Search of the Spirit John Fentress Gardner, 1996 Real education will always seek to strengthen what is best in the human soul its longing for the experience of spiritual truth that brings into the self an objective appreciation of the noble aspects of its own nature together with a subjective sense of real affinity with the rest of humanity the earth planet as a whole and the great cosmos above and beyond The premise of this book is that a human being is a being of body soul and spirit whose core is eternal spirit from which center one should strive to live From this perspective the aim of true education is to help our children activate this deepest center in themselves For this living intuitive thinking must be brought to life in a new way The organ for such thinking is the heart where will and feeling join in uniting self and world morality and truth love and action This book is in three parts The first poses the problem the second describes the Waldorf approach as a solution and the third deals with questions of special interest to parents and educators alike such as authority discipline and freedom the nature of genius and the question of cultural pluralism The first edition of this book was titled The Experience of Knowledge in response to a clear call for experience in education Certainly if the sole purpose of education is to acquire information learning becomes dry abstract and deadening To have meaningful consequence in a person's life coming to know must become an experience Too often however such experience is understood simply as doing field trips class projects and so on But doing if unconnected to the whole person is just activity To become true experience it must speak out of and toward a student's secret center the spirit Hence the author affirms that authentic education is always in search of the spirit
