Albert Francis Conant, 1915      Freud Evaluated - The Completed Arc M. Macmillan, 1990-12-14 This volume is an historically based critical evaluation of Freud s personality theory In it the observations Freud made are described and the theoretical ideas he put forward for explaining them are set out The adequacy of Freud s explanations are judged against the logical and scientific standards of Freud s own time The historical perspective will give the reader a sound basis on which to make a judgement about psycho analysis as a method of investigation and a theory of personality as well as a sense of what Freud was about from Freud s own standpoint Freud s endeavour is sited in the psychological and psychiatric context of the time a period not previously given the critical attention it warrants All of Freud s important assumptions and characteristic modes of thought are to be found in this formative period The placement also brings out more clearly the basis of a number of the unresolved problems of contemporary psycho analytic theory such as the place of affect and the instinctual drives the role of the ego and the basis of treatment The core of the evaluation centres on Freud s basic method for gathering data free association a method which is not much written about and hardly ever criticised What is said about it is new and more substantial than the few criticisms that have been made Although a very critical work there is probably no other appraisal which allows Freud and his colleagues and followers to speak so directly for themselves      New Documents Illustrating Early Christianity S. Frankenberry, 2002-09-19 Publisher Description      Congressional Record United States. Congress, 1995      Hide and Leather with Shoe Factory ,1916      The Narrative of the Good Death Mary Riso, 2016-03-09 The Christian idea of a good death had its roots in the Middle Ages with ars moriendi featuring reliance on Jesus as Savior preparedness for the life to come and for any spiritual battle that might ensue when on the threshold of death and death not taking place in isolation Evangelicalism introduced new features to the good death with its focus on conversion sanctification and an intimate relationship with Jesus Scholarship focused on mid nineteenth century evangelical Nonconformist beliefs about death and the afterlife is sparse This book fills the gap contributing an understanding not only of death but of the history of Methodist and evangelical Nonconformist piety theology social background and literary expression in mid nineteenth century England A good death was as central to Methodism as conversion and holiness Analyzing over 1 200 obituaries Riso reveals that while the last words of the dying pointed to a timeless experience of hope in the life to come the obituaries reflect changing attitudes towards death and the afterlife among nineteenth century evangelical Nonconformist observers who looked increasingly to earthly existence for the fulfillment of hopes Exploring tensions in Nonconformist allegiance to both worldly and spiritual matters this book offers an invaluable contribution to death studies Methodism and Evangelical theology

Unfortunately many Christians are taught early on that God doesn't want us to be happy he wants us to be holy In fact many Christians are laboring under the false notion that God himself is not happy But nothing could be further from the truth God does want us to be happy The Bible is filled with verses that prove that ours is a happy joy filled God who not only loves celebrations but also desperately wants his children to be happy Why else would He go to the lengths He did to ensure our eternal happiness in His presence We know that we will experience unimaginable joy and happiness in Heaven but that doesn't mean we can't also experience joy and happiness here on earth In Happiness noted theologian Randy Alcorn dispels centuries of misconceptions about happiness and provides indisputable proof that God not only wants us to be happy He commands it The most definitive study on the subject of happiness to date this book is a paradigm shifting wake up call for the church and Christians everywhere
