Treaty No. 9 John Long, 2010. Restoring nearly forgotten perspectives to the historical record. John Long considers the methods used by the government of Canada to explain Treaty No 9 to Northern Ontario First Nations. He shows that many crucial details about the treaty's contents were omitted in the transmission of writing to speech while other promises were made orally but not included in the written treaty. Reproducing the three treaty commissioners' personal journals in their entirety, Long reveals the contradictions that suggest the treaty parchment was never fully explained to the First Nations who signed it. pub website      Anthropological Linguistics, 2004      American Book Publishing Record, 2003      The Literary History of Alberta Volume Two George Melnyk, 1998. The contradictory landscape, the stereotypes of the Indian, the Mountie and the Cowboy and the language of the Other speaking from the margins, these elements all left their impressions on the consciousness of early Alberta. But writers in the last few decades have turned this inheritance to their advantage to create compelling stories about this place and its
