Dunaway, 2003 Wilma Dunaway breaks new ground by focusing on slave experiences on small plantations in the Upper South She argues that a region was not buffered from the political economic and social impacts of enslavement simply because it was characterized by low black population density and small slaveholdings By drawing on a massive statistical data base derived from antebellum census manuscripts and county tax records of 215 counties in nine states on a vast array slaveholder manuscripts and on regional slave narratives she pinpoints several indicators that distinguished Mountain South enslavement from the Lower South

Elderly Slaves of the Plantation South Stacey K. Close, 2015-12-22 Elderly slaves contributed substantially to the creation and perpetuation of the unique African American culture and antebellum plantation society in the South Interwoven with this major argument are two subthemes One centers on the fact that by the late antebellum period elderly slaves were some of the chief transmitters of Africanism the other focuses on how gender based distinctions of the elderly became blurred Although the roles of the elderly often changed elderly slaves contributed to the plantation economy It is also true that those old people who were incapacitated posed serious economic and social concerns for owners although many of the problems of elderly care were solved by the compassion of slave community members Ph D Dissertation The Ohio State University 1992 revised with new preface and index

The life of a slave in the cotton plantation economy of North America Julia Schönmann, 2014-05-16 Seminar paper from the year 2014 in the subject History America grade 1.0 University of Heidelberg Institut für Übersetzen und Dolmetschen language English abstract Slavery is a phenomenon which had already been common practice in ancient times and has influenced human history up till today Historian and author Stanley Elkins compared the practice of slavery in the southern states of the U S to national socialist concentration camps Meinert Mcke Weber 120 Unfortunately it was the sad truth Slaves were imported from Africa and sold against their will like goods The sole objective was effective economic exploitation of work force The purpose of this term paper is to take a closer look and especially illustrate every day hardships of a slave's life on a North American cotton plantation In this regard the books Schwarzes Amerika from Meinert Mcke and Weber Out of Many from Faragher Buhle Czitrom and Armitage as well as The Enduring Vision from Boyer Clark and McNair Hawley serve as a basis for statistics and detailed information The life of slaves was subject to constantly changing factors which leads to the conclusion that the standard of life was significantly worse on a big plantation than on a small manageable cotton farm Furthermore wealth and the plantation owner's character influenced a slave's everyday life as well Therefore it is important to keep in mind that not all circumstances and factors applied to every plantation

Mistresses and Slaves Marli Frances Weiner, 1997 Marli Weiner challenges much of the received wisdom on the domestic realm of the nineteenth century southern plantation a world in which white mistresses and female slaves labored together to provide food clothing and medicines to the larger plantation community Although divided by race black and white women were joined by common female experiences and expectations of behavior Because work and gender affected them as much as race mistresses and female slaves interacted with one another very differently from the ways they interacted with men Supported by the women s own words Weiner offers fresh interpretations of the ideology of domesticity that influenced women s race relations before the Civil War the gradual manner in which they changed during the war and the harsher behaviors that resulted during Reconstruction A volume in the series Women in American History edited by Anne Firor Scott Nancy A Hewitt and Stephanie Shaw
