The Interrogation Rooms of the Korean War Monica Kim, 2019 Traditional histories of the Korean War have long focused on violations of the thirty eighth parallel the line drawn by American and Soviet officials in 1945 dividing the Korean peninsula But The interrogation rooms of the Korean War presents an entirely new narrative shifting the perspective from the boundaries of the battlefield to inside the interrogation room Upending conventional notions of what we think of as geographies of military conflict Monica Kim demonstrates how the Korean War evolved from a fight over territory to one over human interiority and the individual human subject forging the template for the U S wars of intervention that would predominate during the latter half of the twentieth century and beyond Kim looks at how during the armistice negotiations the United States and their allies proposed a new kind of interrogation room one in which POWs could exercise their free will and choose which country they would go to after the ceasefire The global controversy that erupted exposed how interrogation rooms had become a flashpoint for the struggles between the ambitions of empire and the demands for decolonization as the aim of interrogation was to produce subjects who attested to a nation s right to govern The complex web of interrogators and prisoners Japanese American interrogators Indian military personnel Korean POWs and interrogators and American POWs that Kim uncovers contradicts the simple story in U S popular memory of brainwashing
