Teacher Learning In Language Teaching:

Teacher Learning in Language Teaching Donald Freeman, Jack C. Richards, 1996-02-23 This book introduces a new field of educational research called teacher learning as it applies to the teaching of languages Up until recently the study of second language teacher education has focused mainly on the knowledge base and specific skills needed for effective teaching This book invites us to look at teacher education from a fresh point of view through an exploration of the thinking and learning processes of individuals as they learn to teach Seventeen original articles based on studies done in North America Europe Asia and Australia provide examples of pioneering research into the ways that individuals learn to teach languages and the roles that previous experience social context and professional training play in the process The collection thus helps establish a research base for this newly developing field

Becoming a (Better) Language Teacher Nora Benitt, 2015-08-19 This qualitative interpretative study investigates a cohort of twelve English teachers enrolled in the M A programme E LINGO Teaching English to Young Learners The aim is to explore if how and under what circumstances classroom action research a core component of the programme can foster teacher learning Since the participants have different educational and cultural backgrounds and various levels of professional experience in the field of language teaching they offer different perspectives on the object of research Data from multiple sources are triangulated and interpreted to elicit indicators for learning and development in the form of critical learning incidents The results suggest that not only cognitive but also social and affective factors constitute the complex process of teacher learning

Teacher Education in CALL Philip Hubbard, Mike Levy, 2006-01-01 This volume addresses the need for a more considered and systematic approach to teacher education and training in Computer Assisted Language Learning CALL in all its forms Technology Enhanced Language Learning Network Based Language Learning Information and Communication Technologies for Language Learning and so on The 20 chapters of the book are divided into five parts 1 foundations of teacher education in CALL 2 CALL degree programs 3 CALL pre service courses 4 CALL in service projects courses and workshops 5 alternatives to formal CALL training The chapters cover a broad range of levels environments countries and languages Rather than simply offering inspired speculation the chapters provide practical information to readers reporting on what has actually been done in a wide variety of teacher education programs and courses around the world In many cases the chapters describe how programs and courses have evolved and include either qualitative or quantitative research or both to inform the structure of CALL courses tasks and activities

The Handbook of Language Teaching Michael H. Long, Catherine J. Doughty, 2011-08-15 Bringing together an international and interdisciplinary team of contributors this Handbook is a wide ranging and invaluable reference guide to language teaching A comprehensive reference work on language teaching which combines the latest research findings coverage of core topics and examples of teaching experience from a variety of languages and settings Provides a unique breadth of coverage including the psycholinguistic underpinnings of language learning social political and educational contexts program design materials writing and course design teaching and testing teacher education and assessment and evaluation Offers a balanced evaluation of the major positions and approaches including examining the increasingly important social and political context of language teaching Written by an international and interdisciplinary group of authors from a dozen different countries English is only one of the many languages used as examples throughout the volume

Second Language Teacher Education Karen E. Johnson, 2009-06-02 A beautifully written articulate and compelling argument for a sociocultural perspective on second language teacher education Essential reading for all who wish to understand this perspective David Nunan University of Hong Kong Significant and timely Johnson is masterful at writing in an engaging transparent prose about complex concepts It s a rare scholar who can write prose like this Throughout my reading I wanted to engage in dialogue with her this is a sure sign of a great book Diane Tedick University of Minnesota USA This book presents a comprehensive overview of the epistemological underpinnings of a sociocultural perspective on human learning and addresses in detail what this perspective has to offer the field of second language teacher education Captured through five changing points of view it argues that a sociocultural perspective on human learning changes the way we think about how teachers learn to teach how teachers think about language how teachers teach second languages the broader social cultural and historical macro structures that are ever present and ever changing in the second language teaching profession and what constitutes second language teacher professional development Overall it clearly and accessibly makes the case that a sociocultural perspective on human learning reorients how the field understands and supports the professional development of second language teachers
