Changing Patterns of Power Thomas S. Popkewitz,1993-01-01 The reform of teacher education has been a focal point of state action in industrial countries since the early 1980s Given this convergence of educational and governmental activity the studies presented here are a significant departure from conventional discourse on reform because they explore the ways that social regulation and political power operate through the processes of educational reform This book considers the reform of teacher education to be an integral part of the larger system of social regulation that takes place in the arena of schooling Reforms in teacher education involve complex sets of interactions among and within social institutions These interactions help shape power relations and patterns of social regulation that operate through state university and school interactions Nevertheless the patterns that give direction and value to teacher education are not easily discerned in public discussions of educational change Instead many of the most important regulatory aspects of teacher education reform are partly obscured by a public discourse that focuses attention on formal responses to socioeconomic events and that tends to divert critical attention away from the power that is exercised and the interests that are served during reform This volume presents studies of reform in Australia Finland Iceland Portugal Spain Sweden the United Kingdom and the United States Although these countries differ in their political and social histories rates and levels of industrialization and patterns of educational practice there is a striking commonality in both the strategies that are employed to reform teacher education and in the nature of social regulation that is a concomitant of reform The Crisis In Teacher Education Anthony Adams,Witold

Tulasiewicz,2005-06-21 Teacher education is continually undergoing change and this book takes a close look into the current status It examines the history of teacher preparation the role of the employer and the aims of education giving a critical review of the present climate where changes in several European countries are underway They address the question of why the changes are being made now and conclude that such changes particularly in the UK are ideological as opposed to quality based New proposals and legislation in the European Unions countries of Britain France Germany and Portugal are considered from a comparative perspective alongside Poland and the United States the latter also experiencing change but for different reasons Aimed at all readers interested in the role of education in Europe this text should also appeal to students and lecturers in education in Europe and to the informed general reader interested in the state of education today

Teacher Mediated Agency in Educational Reform in China Hongzhi Yang,2015-03-26 This book examines teacher agency in implementing English as a Foreign Language EFL curriculum reform in the Chinese university context It theorizes the concept of teacher agency from a sociocultural theory perspective and draws on a study conducted in a conservative and less developed area in China The book uses Engestr m s activity theory and Vygotsky s concept of the Zone of Proximal

Development ZPD to understand the nature and extent of teacher agency in adapting one's teaching with respect to beliefs, knowledge and instructional practices. The study concludes that curriculum reform in China needs to shift from reliance on top-down policies to bottom-up implementation that mobilizes local understandings and practices. One of the implications of this study is that transformative teacher education programs aimed at developing teacher pedagogical agency require that teachers have ongoing opportunities to design, develop and evaluate curriculum-based mediational means.

The Struggle for Teacher Education Tom Are Trippstad, Anja Swennen, Tobias Werler, 2017-04-20. Reform of teacher education is en vogue worldwide today due to the widespread belief that teacher education has the power to change traditional modes of schooling, educating new teachers who will be capable of improving the knowledge standard of children and boost the economic power of nations. The Struggle for Teacher Education brings together conceptual, comparative and empirical studies from Australia, England, Finland, The Netherlands, Norway, South Africa and South America to explore the ways in which professional education has been positioned in a reactive mode. The contributors discuss how teacher education is a contested division in higher education and look at how current reform efforts may limit the potential and work of teacher education, highlighting why this point needs more attention. Moreover, the collection reveals how teacher education's authorship on teacher professionalism may be weakened or strengthened by current reform drives and offers alternative models on how to rethink reforming teacher education.
