

Lee Canter's

Parents On Your Side®

The education of children is a responsibility that must be shared by teachers, administrators and parents alike. Research shows again and again that students do better when parents are involved in the education process. Parents can be effective partners in helping raise students' grades and self-esteem. Yet parental involvement doesn't just happen. Educators need to actively seek parental support.

Reaching all parents and gaining their support may seem to be a difficult assignment, but it can, and must, be done. Lee Canter's comprehensive program, "Parents On Your Side," is designed to empower you to be a more successful educator by showing you how to generate parent support—from all kinds of parents. By establishing positive relationships with parents, and by conscientiously maintaining these relationships throughout the year, you will find that even the most difficult or apathetic parents can be motivated to give support.

The only way to be successful in your efforts to communicate with parents and develop positive relationships is to consciously and consistently plan for them. The Parents On Your Side Administrator Guide is designed to infuse your planning for parent involvement with the rest of your schoolwide planning. As you move through each monthly section, you will discover the many opportunities available to you and your staff each day for demonstrating your commitment to students, enlisting the support of parents, and building a powerful partnership between home and school.

When educators and parents make the commitment to join together to develop a home-school support system, a new door to success is opened for each and every student in your school.
