

An illustration of three adventurers standing on a rocky cliff overlooking a valley. On the left, a woman with long blonde hair in a brown tunic and blue skirt looks out. In the center, a hooded figure in a brown cloak stands with their back to the viewer. On the right, a man in a green cloak and brown tunic looks towards the center. The background features a dramatic sky with blue and white clouds, lightning bolts, and a distant castle with a tall spire.

The Freelands:

The Freelands John Galsworthy, 2016-01-12 PROLOGUE One early April afternoon in a Worcestershire field the only field in that immediate landscape which was not down in grass a man moved slowly athwart the furrows sowing a big man of heavy build swinging his hairy brown arm with the grace of strength He wore no coat or hat a waistcoat open over a blue checked cotton shirt flapped against belted corduroys that were somewhat the color of his square pale brown face and dusty hair His eyes were sad with the swimming yet fixed stare of epileptics his mouth heavy lipped so that but for the yearning eyes the face would have been almost brutal He looked as if he suffered from silence The elm trees bordering the field though only just in leaf showed dark against a white sky A light wind blew carrying already a scent from the earth and growth pushing up for the year was early The green Malvern hills rose in the west and not far away shrouded by trees a long country house of weathered brick faced to the south Save for the man sowing and some rooks crossing from elm to elm no life was visible in all the green land And it was quiet with a strange a brooding tranquillity The fields and hills seemed to mock the scars of road and ditch and furrow scraped on them to mock at barriers of hedge and wall between the green land and white sky was a conspiracy to disregard those small activities So lonely was it so plunged in a ground bass of silence so much too big and permanent for any figure of man and Plays of John Galsworthy: The Freelands John Galsworthy, 1926 The Freelands (Volume 2 of 2) (EasyRead Super Large 24pt Edition) John Galsworthy, 2006 The Freelands by John Galsworthy is a novel likely written in the early 20th century The story revolves around the Freeland family particularly focusing on brothers Felix Tod and their experiences amidst changing societal values and the tensions within their rural community The narrative begins with a poignant depiction of rural life and quickly introduces the complexities of family dynamics societal expectations and the looming impacts of industrialism The opening of The Freelands paints a vivid landscape of Worcestershire s countryside and introduces main characters such as Felix Freeland an author with critical views on society and his brother Tod who leads a more rustic life As Felix navigates through London to attend a family meeting he contemplates the mediocrity of those around him juxtaposed against Tod s existence amongst nature The contrasting lives of the Freeland brothers are set against a backdrop of familial responsibilities societal upheaval and the young generation s potential for rebellion particularly through Tod s children Derek and Sheila who embody the tensions between tradition and change in their community This setup suggests a story rich with themes of personal and social conflict This is an automatically generated summary The Freelands John Galsworthy,1935
