

BRITISH HONOURS SYSTEM

The Honours System

Christopher McCreery

The Honours System:

The Honours System Michael De-la-Noy, 1985 The Honours System Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Public Administration Select Committee, 2012-08-29 The evidence is still that honours are more likely to be awarded to civil servants and celebrities than to people who volunteer in their local community The Committee heard that the process of awarding honours remains opaque even to the Queen's representatives in the counties the Lords Lieutenant PASC calls for an increase in the proportion of people receiving honours for work in their local community rather than to those who are awarded for their work as civil servants and in the wider public sector This report sets out proposals to increase accountability and transparency and strengthening the link to the Monarch These include the introduction of an independent Honours Commission to consider nominations a repeat recommendation from the last parliament that the Prime Minister's strategic direction over the honours system be removed a rebalancing of the proportion of honours awarded to civil servants and public sector workers and volunteers in their local communities that longer citations should be published explaining the reason for awarding an honour that the Lords Lieutenant should have an opportunity to consider and comment on all nominations for an honour within his or her lieutenancy and that the Cabinet Office set out proposals for broadening the range of people who take up roles as independent members of the honours committees The Committee also recommends considering the decision to strip Fred Goodwin of his knighthood that the Honours Forfeiture Committee be made independent and transparent with clear and expanded criteria for forfeiture chaired by an independent figure such as a retired high court judge The Orders of Knighthood and the Formation of the British Honours System, 1660-1760 Antti Matikkala, 2008 Sheds considerable new light on the nature development and functions of the orders in a key phase of their history and goes a long way to explaining how such archaic institutions could flourish in a culture that is commonly thought anti traditional and especially hostile to the middle ages Professor JONATHAN BOULTON University of Notre Dame This is the first comprehensive study to set the British orders of knighthood properly into the context of the honours system by analysing their political social and cultural functions from the Restoration of the monarchy to the end of George II's reign It examines the revival of the Order of the Garter and the proposals to establish the Orders of the Royal Oak and the Esquires of the Martyred King at the Restoration the foundation 1687 and the revival 1703 4 of the Order of the Thistle as well as the foundation of the Order of the Bath 1725 It establishes just how central a part the orders played in the British high political life and its comprehensive and multidimensional approach carefully contrasts the idealistic discourse of virtue and honour to the real workings of the honours system it also makes the case for the Chivalric Enlightenment The orders over the water the Garter and the Thistle conferred by the Jacobite claimants are discussed for the first time in the context of the established British honours system Overall the comparison between the socially very restricted British and the increasingly meritocratic Continental orders highlights the isolation of the British honours system from the European tendencies The Canadian

Honours System Christopher McCreery, 2015-11-28 This updated full colour illustrated book recounts the history of Canada's various national orders decorations and medals This expanded and updated edition of The Canadian Honours System surveys the history of Canada's various orders decorations and medals from New France's Croix de St Louis Britain's the Order of the Bath to modern Canadian honours such as the Sacrifice Medal and recently created Polar Medal Since the establishment of the Order of Canada in 1967 the Canadian honours system has grown to become one of the most comprehensive in the world with more than 300 000 Canadians having been rewarded over the past fifty years Each honour in the modern Canadian honours system and its precursor the British imperial honours system is examined here in detail including historical background design and criteria for bestowal With special chapters on heraldry protocol and the proper mounting and wearing of medals The Canadian Honours System is an essential reference for anyone interested in Canadian honours

The Beginner's Guide to Canadian Honours Christopher McCreery, 2008-07-01 This book examines honours that are presented by the governor general on behalf of the Queen meaning official awards from the government of Canada

Propriety and Honours Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Public Administration Select Committee, 2006-07-13 The Committee is conducting an inquiry into issues of propriety transparency and accountability in the honours system in light of recent allegations that honours have been offered in return for loans to party funds and sponsorship of the Government's city academy schools and that loans have been made to political parties to avoid disclosure under the Political Parties Elections and Referendums Act 2000 This report follows on from previous Committee reports on the subject published in July 2004 HCP 212 I session 2003 04 ISBN 0215018370 and March 2006 HCP 1020 session 2005 06 ISBN 0215028252 This report sets out the Committee's provisional findings notwithstanding a Metropolitan Police investigation into the allegations having taken evidence from the Cabinet Secretary Metropolitan Police officers and members of the House of Lords Appointments Commission Findings include that to improve transparency in the appointments process citations for all honours should be published particularly for higher honours and there should be a declaration signed by the candidate stating clearly any financial connection to a political party It recommends that the role powers and independence of the Appointments Commission should be defined in statute and that the Commission should consult with political parties and others about the criteria it uses to assess the probity of nominees From Servants of study addresses these questions directly by looking at the history of the honours system in the wider context of the major historical changes in Britain and the British Empire in the twentieth century In particular it looks at the evolution of this hierarchical deferential system amidst democratization and decolonization It focuses on the system s largest and most important components the Order of the British Empire the Knight Bachelor and the lower ranks of other Orders By creatively analysing the politics and administration of the system alongside popular responses to it in diaries letters newspapers and memoirs Tobias Harper shows the many different meanings that honours took on for the establishment dissidents and recipients He also shows the ways in which the system succeeded and failed to order and bring together divided societies

A Constitution for the Common Good W Elliot Bulmer,2024-08-19 If Scotland has voted YES on 18 September how can a written Constitution be good for the people of Scotland If Scotland has voted NO how could a new Constitution protect and enhance Scottish democracy within a restructured UK Whether YES or NO a reconstituted Scotland is possible and good for all its citizens Nearly every democracy in the world is built upon a written constitution and constitutions have been at the core of citizens demands for better governance in places as disparate as Kenya Tunisia and Ukraine With the Scottish National Party promising a written constitution in the event of a YES vote and other parties suggesting other possible options for constitutional change in the event of a NO vote constitutional change looks certain to remain central to the political agenda in Scotland for some time to come But what is a constitution for Is it a defensive charter to protect the basic structures of democratic government or is it a transformative covenant for a better society How can the Constitution sustain democracy and promote ethical politics while at the same time recognising and accommodating differences in society What difference would a good Constitution make to the poor How can the Constitution help ensure that the common good of the citizenry prevails over private vested interests In addressing these questions this book sets out a vision for how Scotland could reconstitute itself It emphasises the connection between the constitution democracy and the common good arguing that democratic self government is the true prize regardless of the relationship of Scotland to the rest of the UK This book not only makes a vital contribution to Scotland s current and on going constitutional debate whatever the outcome in September 2014 but also engages with fundamental questions of constitutionalism and democracy that are of enduring relevance to both citizens and scholars around the world Sovereignty, Power, Control John Edmond

McLeod,2023-07-31 Between 1916 and 1947 power structures in present day Gujarat were determined by three political factors the princes of these states of Western India the nationalist politicians and the British paramount power This book pictures the patterns of interaction between the three agents The author first defines the interests of the three parties In several case studies it becomes clear how their relationship was shaped by the typical pursuit of sovereignty by the rulers power by the politicians and control by the British Essential topics such as the princes right to collect duty on imported goods the debate over the tiny states in the Gujarat the British policy towards youthful princes and the honours system are carefully explored This thorough study offers the opportunity to gain a clear understanding of the mechanics of political interaction in princely India This is the first major scholarly contribution to an until now largely ignored field of interest
