The Human Encounter Sheldon Stoff,1973 THE HUMAN ENCOUNTER Sheldon Stoff, Herbert Schwartzberg,1969

Theses and Dissertations Dale L. Brubaker,R. Murray Thomas,2000-07-30 This book guides students through the process of planning researching and writing the final version of theses and dissertations Five major stages of the process are illustrated with multiple examples from the social and behavioral sciences humanities and such allied fields as education social work and business administration The first stage Preparing the Way describes problems and alternative solutions in working with faculty advisors and in searching the professional literature Stage 2 explains how to find good research topics and define them clearly for presentation to faculty advisors Stage 3 describes problems often encountered in data collection and suggests solutions for those problems At Stage 4 students learn ways of organizing and interpreting information including classification schemes verbal and statistical summaries and methods of deriving meaning from data The final stage Presenting the Finished Product offers guidelines for thesis and dissertation writing and for publishing the results in such media as books journal articles and popular periodicals Stage 5 also includes a chapter about how students can mount a convincing defense of their work during a faculty committee s final oral examination session Theses and Dissertations R. Murray Thomas,Dale L. Brubaker,2007-08-03 This text moves beyond simplistic procedures to follow to in depth discussions of stages in the research process providing strong reference points and examples for students embarking on the disciplined inquiry of thesis and dissertation research A valuable text for proposal writing classes faculty members who direct dissertations and theses and students throughout the research process Betty J Alford Chair of Secondary Education and Educational Leadership Stephen F Austin State University Graduate students will be in debt to professors Thomas and Brubaker for providing a long overdue guide to the rite of passage known as theses and dissertations This book is realistic clear and refreshingly sensitive to what students need to know Seymour B Sarason Professor of Psychology Emeritus Yale University Take the anxiety out of preparing your thesis or dissertation This revised classic helps graduate students approach the thesis or dissertation writing process with confidence offering updated references and new information on Internet searches narrative summaries plagiarism and Internet publishing options The authors help readers stay on track by providing checklists and multiple examples as they progress through five critical stages Preparation Selecting research topics Collecting and organizing information Interpreting the results The final presentation With thorough guidelines for evaluating research options this indispensable resource helps make the writing process a satisfying and rewarding one Conducting Educational Research R. Murray Thomas,1998-09-30 Emphasizing the comparative aspects of research this introduction to educational research traces the process through five stages choosing what to study including specifying the research problem collecting information organizing and summarizing information interpreting results and reporting the outcomes Each of the stages offers diverse options available to researchers for solving the problems of that stage and a research project checklist at the end of each chapter guides readers in applying the chapter's contents to their own research studies. In much educational discourse comparative education has referred solely to the study of educational similarities and differences between regions of the world or between two or more nations. This book uses the broader definition of the term to encompass a large body of research including studies focusing on comparisons between local educational systems, schools, classrooms, language groups, religious denominations, genders, social classes, and individual students. Students who are planning research projects as well as staff members of such organizations as ministries of education, school systems, bureaus of educational research, and educational aid agencies will find this volume indispensable.

Graduate Theological Education and the Human Experience of Disability Robert C. Anderson, 2003. Create pathways in theological education and congregational practice for people with disabilities. Graduate Theological Education and the Human Experience of Disability examines graduate schools of theology and their limited familiarity with the study of disability and the presence of people with disabilities in particular on their campuses. Dubbed a missing note by one theologian, this text offers critical research and illuminates new pathways for theology and practice in the community of faith. Reviews of previous literature, theology, and practices illuminate how people with disabilities have historically been marginalized by the religious community. Theologians, people with disabilities, and researchers offer suggestions for incorporating disability studies into theological education and religious life. This text contains firsthand testimony from people with disabilities who are the necessary sources of wisdom for overcoming barriers. By infusing education into existing theological curriculum, seminaries may better prepare their students for leadership and ministry in their congregations. People with disabilities number 18% of the population yet represent only 5-7% of congregational membership. This book explores aspects of theology and disability such as the challenges faced by theological schools that desire to improve both theological curriculum and facilities, a review of literature that connects theology and disability from sources such as scripture, history, faith traditions, and social theory, the various ideologies that shape the way the human body is understood, redefining normal in theological education, an overview of critical boundaries that mark the limits and possibilities for theological inquiry about the human experience of disability, creative concepts that religious communities may use to better include people with disabilities and their families, how the religious community may benefit from the gifts, talents, and leadership of people with disabilities. Graduate Theological Education and the Human Experience of Disability contains a reprint of Dr. Harold Wilke's landmark 1978 article from Theological Education published by the Association of Theological Schools. Dr. Wilke, born without arms, was the theologian, minister, and scholar who first articulated the need to address the human experience of disability in both theological education and congregational life. With extensive biographies and inclusive liturgies, this innovative text is a valuable resource for seminary professors and leaders, clergy, and disability advocates.

The Logic of the Spirit in Human Thought and Experience Keith J. White, Dana R. Wright, 2015-02-26. In March 2012 a small consultation convened on the campus of Princeton Theological Seminary where James E Loder Jr had served for forty years as the Mary D Synnott Professor of the Philosophy of Christian Education Members from the Child Theology Movement had begun to read Loder s work and they wanted to go further So they invited former students of Loder s to meet with them for conversations about things that really mattered to them and to Loder human beings and especially children the church s witness to the gospel of Jesus Christ and discerning the work of Spiritus Creator in the postmodern world The conversations proved rich and rewarding and some would even say they took on a life of their own serious scholarship set to the music of the Spirit s communion creating artistry forming new relationships inspiring new ideas and sustaining all of it amid much laughter joy and hope These essays taken from the papers delivered at the consultation are offered as a means of extending that conversation inspired by Loder s interdisciplinary practical theological science and his discernment of the Paperbound Book Guide for Colleges ,1970 Encyclopedia of Human Development Neil J.
