The Future Of Theology:

The Future of Theology Miroslav Volf, Carmen Krieg, Thomas Kucharz, 1996 This is a print on demand book and is therefore non returnable Perhaps no other theologian of the second half of this century has shaped theology so profoundly as has Jürgen Moltmann He appeared on the world theological scene with his Theology of Hope 1964 and took most of its capitals by storm His subsequent works have kept him at the forefront of the modern theological enterprise and the power of his vision and the originality of his method have inspired a host of new theologians In terms of fecundity Moltmann's opus remains unmatched among his generation of theologians More than 130 dissertations written so far on his thought most of them in the past decade testify eloquently to its continued attractiveness In honor of Moltmann's 70th birthday twenty six of the world's leading theologians his friends colleagues interlocutors and former students have contributed to this volume on the future of theology Moltmann himself has always sought to be both contemporary and future oriented his theology can be viewed as an exercise not only from the perspective of God's future but also toward a new human future Thus a book on the future of theology takes up an aspect of his theme and his concern Yet this volume also makes a significant contribution to theology in its own right seeking as it does to address the present crisis of theology As Miroslav Volf writes in his introduction On the threshold of the third millennium the presumed queen of sciences has grown old and feeble unable to see that what she thinks is her throne is just an ordinary chair uncertain about what her territories are and confused about how to rule in the realms she thinks are hers seeking advice from a quarrelsome chorus of counselors each of whom thinks himself the king and ending up with a divided even schizophrenic mind The essays in this volume attempt to revitalize theology as it confronts a difficult future Despite the formidable obstacles that threaten the very survival of theology in the next century religious and cultural plurality the marginalization of theology in public discourse increasing abstraction in the practice of theology pressing issues of gender race poverty and ecology the seemingly archaic voice of theology in post Christian societies the contributors to this volume all believe in the future of theology as a vibrant discipline The Future of Theology is organized in three parts Challenges deals with the external or internal problems that theology is facing Perspectives offers proposals on how to meet the challenges Themes concentrates on various issues that need special attention today Together these essays succeed in setting the theological agenda for the future of theology and thereby serve as a fitting tribute to this volume's esteemed honoree Contributors Stanley Hauerwas Elisabeth Moltmann-Wendel John B Cobb Jr James H Cone D Lyle Dabney Ingolf U Dalferth Gustavo Gutiérrez Douglas John Hall Ellen T Charry M Douglas Meeks Johann Baptist Metz Konrad Raiser Wolfhart Pannenberg Paul Ricoeur John Howard Yoder Dietrich Ritschl Dorothy S Lee Jon Sobrino Elsa Tamez Geoffrey Wainwright Rosemary Radford Ruether Miroslav Volf Michael Welker Nicholas Wolterstorff Catherine Keller Huns K ng The Future of Theology John Auricchio, 1970 Apocalyptic and the Future of Theology Joshua B. Davis, Douglas Harink, 2012-11-07 Ernst Kasemann famously claimed that apocalyptic is the mother of Christian theology J Louis Martyn's radical interpretation of the overarching significance of apocalyptic in Paul's theology has pushed Kasemann's claim further and deeper Still despite the recognition that apocalyptic is at the core of New Testament and Pauline theology modern theology has often dismissed domesticated or demythologized early Christian apocalyptic A renewed interest in taking apocalyptic seriously is one of the most exciting developments in recent theology The essays in this volume taking their point of departure from the work of Martyn and Kasemann wrestle critically with the promise and possible peril of the apocalyptic transformation of Christian theology With original contributions from established scholars including Beverly Gaventa Stanley Hauerwas Robert Jenson Walter Lowe Joseph Mangina Christopher Morse and Fleming Rutledge as well as younger voices this volume makes a substantial contribution to the discussion of apocalyptic and theology today A unique feature of the book is a personal reflection on Ernst Kasemann by J Louis Martyn himself Ernst Troeltsch and the Future of Theology John Clayton, 1976-08-12 A reassessment of the theology of the German Protestant theologian Ernst Troeltsch 1865-1923 and of his significance for contemporary theology The six papers here presented were originally delivered at an international colloquium on Troeltsch held at the University of Lancaster The contributors focus on the fundamental issues raised by Troeltsch which remain central to theology today and seek to engage him as a discussion partner in a continuing debate Troeltsch has been unduly neglected as a theologian a fact which is due partly to the dominance of the dialectical theology of Barth and Bultmann in Germany after the First World War This book seeks to remedy this state of affairs by dealing critically with Troeltsch's theology as well as constructively with the issues The papers fall into three groups in the first Troeltsch is considered as a Christian theologian in the second are studied the possibilities of systematic and historical theology along Troeltschian lines in the third the questions of what makes Christianity Christian and of Christian claims to exclusive truth are examined in the light of Troeltsch's work Each of the contributors is a noted Troeltsch scholar and the book contains an extensive bibliography which adds to its usefulness to students and scholars alike

Theology for the Future Andrew Hollingsworth, 2021-08-19 Wolfhart Pannenberg was one of the most important theologians of the twentieth century and his work has much to offer contemporary theologians In this book the contributors analyze and discuss a component of Pannenberg's theology with an eye to demonstrating its enduring promise for contemporary and future theological construction Topics discussed include Pannenberg's theological method defense of the historicity of Jesus resurrection doctrine of God doctrine of the Trinity theory of time doctrine of creation doctrine of salvation and public theology The Future of the Study of Religion Slavica Jakelic, Lori Pearson, 2018-08-14 This volume brings together diverse voices from various fields within religious and theological studies for a conversation about the proper objects goals and methods for the study of religion in the twenty first century It approaches these questions by way of the most recent contemporary challenges debates and developments in the field and provides a forum in which contending perspectives are tested and contested by their proponents and opponents Contributors address topics such as the connection between the normative and the scientific approaches to the study of religion the meaning of religion in a context of globalization the relation between religious studies and religious traditions the viability of comparative and cultural studies of religious phenomena and the future of gender studies in religion The Future of Religion Michael R. Ott,2007 This book contains the work of international scholars who address the contemporary globalizing antagonism between religion and secularity in the theoretical and practical pursuit for this antagonism s reconciliation in a more just humane and peaceful future society and world Ethics and the Future of Religion W. Royce Clark,2022-02-03 W Royce Clark observes that humanity appears to be jeopardizing our own future in a chaos of mutual antagonism and hypocrisy Religions have traditionally provided ethical guidance but because their absolutized metaphysics are incompatible with each other we cannot rely on any one of them in a religiously pluralistic culture The ethics of various religions are also built on theocratic or authoritarian foundations which are incompatible with any democratic society Finally many of their premises are very ancient so not relevant or appropriate in our modern scientific world The Western Enlightenment brought challenges against religion s singularity exclusivity heteronomy and anti scientific assumptions all of which disrupted their ethics and the Absolute metaphysical grounds upon which those ethics rested raising the question of whether a freestanding ethic was possible Inasmuch as the primary claim of most religions was regarded as beyond challenge but was a conflation of history and myth modern historical method created more doubt than certainty about such allegedly certain doctrines as Jesus is the Son of God By the end of the 20th century the impossibility of validating such primary Christological claims from a historical approach became evident despite the articulate attempts at credibility in the brilliant works of John Dominic Crossan and Wolfhart Pannenberg which remained unconvincing in important ways Between 1832 and 2014 innovative Christian theologians such as Schleiermacher Hegel Tillich and Scharlemann took a detour from the futility of historical verification This study examines their remarkable attempts at a form of corroboration of the basic Christological claim even if their primary interests were more in Christology than ethics The question Clark takes up here is whether or not these figures have thereby provided a base for a universal ethic or the only answer is for principles freestanding from any religion God--The World's Future Ted Peters,2015-08-01 God The World s Future has been a proven textbook in systematic theology for over twenty years Thoroughly revised and expanded this third edition is explicitly crafted to address our postmodern context and explains the whole body of Christian historical doctrine from within a proleptic framework Peters skillfully deploys this concept not only to organize the various theological areas or loci but also to rethink doctrines in light of key postmodern challenges from ecumenism critical historical thinking contemporary science and gender and sexuality issues The Future of Christian Theology David F. Ford,2011-02-28 The Future of Christian Theology represents a personal manifesto from one of the world s leading theologians exploring the ways Christian theology in the twenty first century has been and can now continue to be both creative and wise Represents an outstanding and engaging account of the task of theology today

Offers an insightful description of what makes for discerning and creative theology Written from the perspective of decades of experience and in close dialogue with theologians of other faiths Features a strong interfaith and public theology dimension and a contemporary portrait of the field from the inside A hopeful and illuminating search for wisdom and understanding in the increasingly complex religious and secular world of the twenty first century
