

WHAT IS FEUDALISM?

Feudalism was the dominant social system in medieval Europe where the society was based on the feudal pyramid, where the king was at the top with the nobles, knights, and vassals below him.

In the feudal system the nobility held lands from the Crown in exchange for military service, and vassals were in turn tenants of the nobles, while the peasants (villeins or serfs) were obliged to live on their lord's land and give him homage, labor, and a share of the produce, notionally in exchange for military protection.

Class Conflict and the Crisis of Feudalism Rodney Hilton, 1985-07-01 The conflict between landlords and peasants over the appropriation of the surplus product of the peasant holding was a prime mover in the evolution of medieval society In this collection of essays Rodney Hilton looks at the economic context within which these conflicts took place He seeks to explain the considerable variations in the size composition and management of landed estates and investigates the nature of medieval urbanisation a consequence of the development of both local commodity production and long distance trade in luxury goods By setting the broader economic context the nature of the peasant and landlord economies and the commercialisation of peasant production Hilton's essays enable a thorough understanding of the relationship between landlords and peasants in medieval society
