The French Revolution and Intellectual History Jack Richard Censer, 1989-01-01      Revolutionary Ideas Jonathan Israel, 2015-09-22

Historians of the French Revolution used to take for granted what was also obvious to its contemporary observers that the Revolution was caused by the radical ideas of the Enlightenment. Yet in recent decades scholars have argued that the Revolution was brought about by social forces: politics, economics, or culture—almost anything but abstract notions like liberty or equality. In Revolutionary Ideas, one of the world's leading historians of the Enlightenment restores the Revolution's intellectual history to its rightful central role. Drawing widely on primary sources, Jonathan Israel shows how the Revolution was set in motion by radical eighteenth-century doctrines; how these ideas divided revolutionary leaders into vehemently opposed ideological blocs; and how these clashes drove the turning points of the Revolution. Revolutionary Ideas demonstrates that the Revolution was really three different revolutions vying for supremacy: a conflict between constitutional monarchists such as Lafayette who advocated moderate Enlightenment ideas; democratic republicans allied to Tom Paine who fought for Radical Enlightenment ideas; and authoritarian populists such as Robespierre who violently rejected key Enlightenment ideas and should ultimately be seen as Counter Enlightenment figures. The book tells how the fierce rivalry between these groups shaped the course of the Revolution from the Declaration of Rights through liberal monarchism and democratic republicanism to the Terror and the Post Thermidor reaction. In this compelling account, the French Revolution stands once again as a culmination of the emancipatory and democratic ideals of the Enlightenment. That it ended in the Terror represented a betrayal of those ideas, not their fulfillment. book jacket

French Political and Intellectual History Samuel Bernstein, In this collection of remarkable essays initially published in 1955 and now available in paperback for the first time, Samuel Bernstein elucidates the meaning of human striving for improvement with regard to the problems raised by one of the most turbulent periods of history. Written with profound conviction and literary acumen, these essays will give the reader in the author's words a sense of a kinship of ideas and the mutual sympathies of peoples in matters concerning human betterment. These essays represent the fruits of twenty years of careful research in the political and intellectual history of the Atlantic civilization, particularly as it relates to the leading movements and men of France. Bernstein's expert knowledge of the history of political movements and social policies places him among the ranking authorities in that field.

An Intellectual History of Liberalism Pierre Manent, 2019-12-31

Highlighting the social tensions that confront the liberal tradition, Pierre Manent draws a portrait of what we citizens of modern liberal democracies have become. For Manent, a discussion of liberalism encompasses the foundations of modern society its secularism its individualism and its conception of rights The frequent incapacity of the morally neutral democratic state to further social causes he argues derives from the liberal stance that political life does not serve a higher purpose Through quick moving highly synthetic essays he explores the development of liberal thinking in terms of a single theme the decline of theological politics The author traces the liberal stance to Machiavelli who in seeking to divorce everyday life from the pervasive influence of the Catholic church separated politics from all notions of a cosmological order What followed as Manent demonstrates in his analyses of Locke Hobbes Rousseau Guizot and Constant was the evolving concept of an individual with no goals outside the confines of the self and a state with no purpose but to prevent individuals from dominating one another Weighing both the positive and negative effects of such a political arrangement Manent raises important questions about the fundamental political issues of the day among them the possibility of individual rights being reconciled with the necessary demands of political organization and the desirability of a government system neutral about religion but not about public morals has existed in relationship to the West since the seventh century Salama compares the Arab Islamic and European traditions of historical thought since the early modern period focusing on the watershed moments that informed the two traditions ideas of intellectual history and perceptions of one another He draws attention to European intellectual history s entangled links with the Islamic philosophy of history especially the complexities of orientalism and modernity Recent critical reflections on the work of Ibn Khald n confirm this intertwined and troubled relationship reflecting major disparities and contradictions At the same time recent Arab writings on Europe s intellectual history reveal a struggle against erasure and intellectual superiority Calling for a new understanding of the relationship between Islam and the West Salama argues that Islam has played a major role in enabling and positioning various paths of Western historiography at crucial moments of its development leaving palpable imprints on Islamic historiography in the process He proposes an answer to a fundamental question how to make sense of the mechanics of production in Arab Islamic and Western historiographies or how to identify the ways in which they have both failed to make sense of themselves and of each other in an increasingly disenchanted postnationalist world Spanning an impressive array of recent writings on these themes as well as older foundational texts in both traditions including al Tabar Ibn Khald n Hegel al Jabart Toynbee Foucault Edward Said and Hourani this book is both timely and crucial for all those interested in Islamic and Middle Eastern studies Western and Islamic philosophies of history modernity and the relationship between Islam and the West
