The Naked Public Square Richard John Neuhaus, 1986 Underlying the many crises in American life writes Richard John Neuhaus is a crisis of faith It is not enough that more people should believe or that those who believe should believe more strongly Rather the faith of persons and communities must be more compellingly related to the public arena The naked public square which results from the exclusion of popular values from the public forum will almost certainly result in the death of democracy The great challenge says Neuhaus is the reconstruction of a public philosophy that can undergird American life and America's ambiguous place in the world To be truly democratic and to endure such a public philosophy must be grounded in values that are based on Judeo Christian religion The remedy begins with recognizing that democratic theory and practice which have in the past often been indifferent or hostile to religion must now be legitimated in terms compatible with biblical faith Neuhaus explores the strengths and weaknesses of various sectors of American religion in pursuing this task of critical legitimation Arguing that America is now engaged in an historic moment of testing he draws upon Protestant Catholic and Jewish thinkers who have in other moments of testing seen that the stakes are very high for America for the promise of democratic freedom elsewhere and possibly for God's purpose in the world An honest analysis of the situation says Neuhaus shatters false polarizations between left and right liberal and conservative In a democratic culture the believer's respect for nonbelievers is not a compromise but a requirement of the believer's faith Similarly the democratic rights of those outside the communities of religious faith can be assured only by the inclusion of religiously grounded values in the common life The Naked Public Square does not offer yet another partisan program for political or social change Rather it offers a deeply disturbing but finally hopeful examination of Abraham Lincoln's century old question whether this nation or any nation so conceived and so dedicated can long endure
