The New Journalism:

The New Journalism Tom Wolfe, Edward Warren Johnson, 1973 Selections from Rex Reed Gay Talese Richard Goldstein Michael Herr Truman Capote Joe Eszterhas Terry Southern Hunter S Thompson Norman Mailer Nicholas Tomalin Tom Wolfe Barbara L Goldsmith Joe McGinnis George Plimpton James Mills John Gregory Dunne John Sack Joan Didion Adam Smith Robert Christgau and Garry Wills Other Voices Everette Dennis, 2017-07-05 Conflicting journalistic voices that were raised in the past have become such a jumble that merely identifying them is difficult Dennis and Rivers define categorize present and examine the voices that contributed to what became known as the new media environment in the 1970s This new journalism came about as a result of dissatisfaction with existing values and standards of the early 1960s style of journalism The authors are comprehensive in their concerns as reflected in the national scope presented They cover developments in the major cities on both coasts in the Middle West and South in every major region of the United States Most of the research required travel and interviews all of it required reading almost endlessly and watching the video productions of journalists who built the structure of alternative television Dennis and Rivers offer a representative view of forms and media as well as the people who fashioned the new orientation The authors claim that the wrangling over objective and interpretative reporting misses the main point which is that neither is in close touch with reality The best objective report may cover all surfaces of an event the best interpretative report may explain all its meanings but both are bloodless a world away from the experience Color flavor atmosphere the ultimate human meaning all these the new journalists contend are far beyond the reach of traditional models of journalism This is one of the central reasons for the emergence of different forms and practices in our time This volume will help younger scholars understand the sources of quasi journalistic practices extant today including blogging and electronic only publications

The New New Journalism Robert Boynton, 2007-12-18 Forty years after Tom Wolfe Hunter S Thompson and Gay Talese launched the New Journalism movement Robert S Boynton sits down with nineteen practitioners of what he calls the New New Journalism to discuss their methods writings and careers The New New Journalists are first and foremost brilliant reporters who immerse themselves completely in their subjects Jon Krakauer accompanies a mountaineering expedition to Everest Ted Conover works for nearly a year as a prison guard Susan Orlean follows orchid fanciers to reveal an obsessive subculture few knew existed Adrian Nicole LeBlanc spends nearly a decade reporting on a family in the South Bronx And like their muckraking early twentieth century precursors they are drawn to the most pressing issues of the day Alex Kotlowitz Leon Dash and William Finnegan to race and class Ron Rosenbaum to the problem of evil Michael Lewis to boom and bust economies Richard Ben Cramer to the nitty gritty of politics How do they do it In these interviews they reveal the techniques and inspirations behind their acclaimed works from their felt tip pens tape recorders long car rides and assumed identities to their intimate understanding of the way a truly great story unfolds Interviews with Gay Talese Jane Kramer Calvin Trillin Richard Ben Cramer Ted Conover Alex Kotlowitz Richard Preston beyond its own and much of Lyotard's writing about avant garde art establishes connections between artistic innovation and broader issues of ethics politics and justice Over the course of this dissertation I demonstrate how the New Journalism participates in this tradition by asking questions about the role and responsibility of the reporter through the self conscious development of an experimental journalistic aesthetic

The Beat Generation and the Popular Novel in the United States, 1945-1970 Thomas Newhouse, 2000-06-30 The Beat Generation that emerged after World War II and reached its zenith in the 1960s represented an era of new perspectives The questioning anti establishment view of the world prevalent among the various members of the Beat Movement found its voice in both novels and poetry The novels especially or what might be called underground narratives were a driving force within the literary social and cultural revolution that characterized the Beats This study of the American novel during that era presents the forerunners of the literary tradition of the Beats and examines the major genres of the Beat novel the juvenile delinquent novel the self discovering novel of individuality the gay novel the drug novel the new journalism and novels taking on topics of defiance and submission From novels that have found a mainstream acceptance like The Blackboard Jungle The Electric Kool Aid Acid Test and On the Road to lesser known works like Go Young Adam and Flee the Angry Strangers numerous representative works are examined in depth Also included is a chronology of underground narratives showing the development of these novels from their early twentieth century antecedents to current works

The Gang That Wouldn't Write Straight Marc Weingarten, 2010-03-31 In Cold Blood The Electric Kool Aid Acid Test Fear and Loathing in Las Vegas Slouching Towards Bethlehem The Armies of the Night Starting in 1965 and spanning a ten year period a group of writers including Tom Wolfe Jimmy Breslin Gay Talese Hunter S Thompson Joan Didion John Sack and Michael Herr emerged and joined a few of their pioneering elders including Truman Capote and Norman Mailer to remake American letters The perfect chroniclers of an age of frenzied cultural change they were blessed with the insight that traditional tools of reporting would prove inadequate to tell the story of a nation manically hopscotching from hope to doom and back again from war to rock assassination to drugs hippies to Yippies Kennedy to the dark lord Nixon Traditional just the facts reporting simply couldn't provide a neat and symmetrical order to this chaos Marc Weingarten has interviewed many of the major players to provide a startling behind the scenes account of the rise and fall of the most revolutionary literary outpouring of the postwar era set against the backdrop of some of the most turbulent and significant years in contemporary American life These are the stories behind those stories from Tom Wolfe's white suited adventures in the counterculture to Hunter S Thompson's drug addled invention of gonzo to Michael Herr's redefinition of war reporting in the hell of Vietnam Weingarten also tells the deeper backstory recounting the rich and surprising history of the editors and the magazines who made the movement possible notably the three greatest editors of the era Harold Hayes at Esquire Clay Felker at New York and Jann Wenner at Rolling Stone And finally Weingarten takes us through the demise of the New Journalists a tragedy of hubris miscalculation and corporate menacing This is the story of perhaps the last great good time in American journalism a time when writers didn't just cover stories but immersed themselves in them and when journalism didn't just report America but reshaped it Within a seven year period a group of writers emerged seemingly out of nowhere Tom Wolfe Jimmy Breslin Gay Talese Hunter S Thompson Joan Didion John Sack Michael Herr to impose some order on all of this American mayhem each in his or her own distinctive manner a few old hands like Truman Capote and Norman Mailer chipped in as well They came to tell us stories about ourselves in ways that we couldn't stories about the way life was being lived in the sixties and seventies and what it all meant to us The stakes were high deep fissures were rending the social fabric the world was out of order So they became our master explainers our town criers even our moral conscience the New Journalists from the Introduction
