Studies of Diagnosis and Remediation with High School Algebra Students R. Martinak, Anthony E. Kelly, University of Aberdeen. Department of Computing Science, D. Sleeman, J. Moore, R. Ward, STANFORD UNIV PALO ALTO CALIF., 1987 This research note compares the effects of reteaching and different styles of error based remediation More research is needed to understand the factors which lead to successful remediation Six studies discussed in this RN compare error specific or model based remediation MBR with reteaching in algebra The results show that MBR and reteaching are both more effective than no tutoring but MBR is not clearly more effective than reteaching The results are discussed both in terms of stability of errors and of their relevance to educational practice and the field of intelligent tutoring systems Classical computer aided intelligence systems have been used to provide tutorial instruction and socratic or supportive problem solving Tutorial systems aim to diagnose a student's errors and then to provide appropriate remediation Supportive problem solving systems monitor the student's problem solving and aim to provide help and advice whenever requested The subfield of Intelligent CAI or ITS Intelligent Tutoring Systems arose because workers felt that CAI was intrinsically limited and in fact incapable of providing highly adaptive instruction

Reaching Algebra Readiness (RAR) Tony G. Williams, 2011-10-30 Research has shown that algebra is the doorway and gateway for future success of students in many aspects including high school graduation attending and success in college and professional earning power And the most important key to students success in algebra is their readiness This book is not only a program that addresses algebra readiness it is also a fundamental reform effort based on the National Mathematics Advisory Panel's NMAP's Final Report spring 2008 The book approaches

mathematic skills deficiencies on an individual basis much like an IEP addresses the individual needs of a student with disabilities The Reaching Algebra Readiness RAR process consists of four components 1 Diagnostic assessing student s mastery of the skills needed to take algebra 2 Prescriptive developing an individualized plan to address specific math deficiencies 3 Intervention utilizing tools and resources parental involvement effective teaching strategies etc to improve students mathematics skills and 4 Drills and Effective Teachings Strategies mathematics is a discipline and simply there is no way of avoiding practice and drilling in reaching algebra readiness which can be enhanced significantly by implementing proven effective teaching strategies The Reaching Algebra Readiness RAR process and the related materials presented in this book will be revolutionary in helping all students acquire the math skills needed for success in algebra and beyond This book is a must guide for math teachers parents who home school parents who are looking for solutions and educators pursuing fundamental education reforms

A Study of Diagnostic and Remedial Techniques Used by Master Algebra Teachers Anthony E. Kelly,D. Sleeman,STANFORD UNIV PALO ALTO CALIF.,1988 This research note raises the issues of what makes for effective diagnosis and remediation of linear algebra equations and how this affects the development of intelligent tutoring systems The note reports three studies In the first four experienced teachers were given a series of incorrectly worked algebra tasks and asked to provide diagnosis and remediation n b the students were not present The second study was a series of interviews with three Irish math teachers discussing their approaches to algebra diagnosis and remediation The third study observed a teacher remediating eight students on the basis of diagnoses provided by the PIXIE ITS program This teacher probed for causes beneath the surface errors made by the student The major conclusions of the three studies were that teachers generally taught algebra procedurally rather than conceptually and that teachers thought it important to determine the causes behind errors Keywords Intelligent tutoring system Artificial intelligence Expert systems PIXIE jhd MATH Online Intervention Prentice Hall (School Division), Using a Self-managed Intervention to Build Computational and Procedural Fluency with Complex Computation James Stocker,2016 Behavioral fluency synthesizes accuracy and speed and enables students to operate successfully in the learning environment The current investigation tested a self managed frequency building intervention designed to increase behavioral fluency in four seventh grade students with three critical pre algebra skills order of operations adding and subtracting fractions with uncommon denominators and long division with and without a remainder Elements of the frequency building intervention comprised of cue cards timed practice and feedback The experimenter applied an alternating treatments design with the first experimental condition consisting of three one minute frequency building trials with 30 seconds of feedback provided immediately after each one minute trial The second condition consisted of one three minute frequency building trial immediately followed by 90 seconds of feedback A baseline condition had the students participate in one minute timed trial with no feedback Findings indicate that all four students successfully self managed and benefited from frequency building especially with long division and
