Gillespie, Corinne J. Naden, 1994 The Literature of Connection David Trotter, 2020-06-10 This book is about some of the ways in which the world got ready to be connected long before the advent of the technologies and the concentrations of capital necessary to implement a global network society It investigates the prehistory not of the communications revolution brought about by advances in electronic digital computing from 1950 onwards but of the principle of connectivity which was to provide that revolution with its justification and rallying cry Connectivity's core principle is that what matters most in any act of telecommunication and sometimes all that matters is the fact of its having happened During the nineteenth century the principle gained steadily increasing traction by means not only of formal systems such as the telegraph but of an array of improvised methods and signalling devices These methods and devices fulfilled not just an ever more urgent need but a fundamental recurring desire for near instantaneous real time communication at a distance Connectivity became an end in itself a complex vivid unpredictable romance woven through the enduring human desire and need for remote intimacy Its magical enhancements are the stuff of tragedy comedy satire elegy lyric melodrama and plain description of literature in short The book develops the concepts of signal medium and interface to offer in its first part an alternative view of writing in Britain from George Eliot and Thomas Hardy to D H Lawrence Hope Mirrlees and Katherine Mansfield and in its second case studies of European and African American fiction and of interwar British cinema designed to open the topic up for further enquiry

On the Edge of the Field Richard Sievers,2018-06-13 These poems are the recordings of my journey from neophyte farmer and father to a more seasoned and solid soul These words are the chronicle of eight years working on and stewarding an organic farm in the Pacific Northwest of the USA I wrote most of these poems in an old cabin sitting behind a picture window above the farm and pasture You may notice how the first entries reflect a steep learning curve on how to be a sensitive man in an intense world of parenting marriage and business For these were my first years inhabiting all three of these labels These years began with hope and idealism They end with both losing the farm and gaining a much deeper set of inner resources to be alive and to be of service

The journey of the Elara

Danilo Sieren, The Journey of Elara is a literary mosaic delicate thoughtful and full of interstitial spaces At the center is Elara a woman who sets off without knowing where to go What she is looking for is not tangible a feeling an echo perhaps a beginning On her journey she meets people who ask more questions than they answer Places that change as soon as you leave them And memories that don t bring back but carry forward The text deliberately dispenses with classical dramaturgy Instead it unfolds like an inner dialogue fragmentary poetic open Every chapter is a step into the unknown every sentence a tentative attempt to find meaning This book is for readers who don't want to hold on For those who love quiet listening the unfinished and understand the open as a possibility A literary companion for all those who are on the move internally externally between the lines The Christian Advocate ,1915 The Poetical Works of Mrs. Felicia Hemans Mrs. Hemans,1841 The Uses of Error Frank Kermode,1991 This book is a record of Kermode's error his wandering through literature past and present He notes that in thirty odd years I have written several hundred reviews an example I would strongly urge the young not to follow From these Kermode has selected the pieces he treasures most they provide an example that will be difficult to follow
