Lost Son Hermann Broch, 2012-12-01 By any measure Hermann Broch was one of the greatest writers of the twentieth century Author of The Sleepwalkers and The Spell he stands together with James Joyce and Marcel Proust at the pinnacle of literary Modernism Born in 1886 he saw the First World War destroy the culture and consciousness of what had come before seeing the West thrust unwillingly into the modern age By 1938 Broch found himself arrested and detained during which time he began work on his greatest novel The Death of Virgil Dozens of friends from all over the world managed to help him find his release and he moved to the United States where he lived for the rest of his life With his wife Franziska Broch had only a single child Armand While Broch had become preoccupied with deep questions of philosophy psychology and politics his son became a thoroughgoing materialist Sent away to an elite boarding school when 14 Armand found himself surrounded by students from the richest families in Europe He became devoted to sports to fast luxury cars his father did not even know how to drive and to the first class lifestyle of his classmates These letters show the profound breach that developed between father and son They also provide a portrait of the Gilded Age a time of remarkable change as Europe headed on a course of horrible inevitability Letters from Broch during this time are uncommon so we also get a chance to follow the trajectory of his life as he prepares to leave his job as an industrialist and devote himself to study and to writing
