Small Nations Big Neighbour Denmark And Quebec Canada Compare Notes On American Popular Culture:

Small Nations, Big Neighbour Roger de La Garde, William Gilsdorf, Ilja Wechseltmann, 1993 Canadian Content Ryan Edwardson, 2008-05-24 A nation is given shape in large part through the cultural activities of its builders Historically nationalists have turned to the arts and media to articulate and institute a sense of unique national identity This was certainly true of Canada in the twentieth century Canadian Content explores ways in which nationhood was defined and pursued through cultural means in Canada throughout the last century As a framework for the study Ryan Edwardson distinguishes between three phases of Canadianization support for the arts and cultured mass media during the colony to nation transition the new nationalist empowerment of multi brow culture and the call for state intervention in the mid 1960s and 1970s and the cultural industrialism initiated by the federal government under Pierre Trudeau in 1968 Examining each phase in its turn Canadian Content looks at Canada as an ongoing postcolonial process of not one but a series of radically different nationhoods each with its own valued but tentative set of cultural criteria for orchestrating and implementing a Canadian national experience Considering the relationship between culture and national identity this study offers an idea of what it means to be Canadian and suggests just how adaptable problematic and ongoing the pursuit of nationhood can be The Cultural Industries in Canada Michael Dorland, 1996 Contents Part I Print Industries Book Publishing Rowland Lorimer Periodical Publishing Lon Dubinsky Newspaper Publishing Christopher Dornan Part II Sound Industries Sound Recording

Location Serra Tinic, 2005-12-15 Film and television production are important components of the Canadian economy In Vancouver popular American television series like The X Files and Canadian series like Da Vinci's Inquest have boosted the city's profile as a centre for international and domestic productions Serra Tinic's On Location is the first empirical analysis of regional Canadian television producers in the context of developing global media markets Tinic observes that global television production in Vancouver has been a contradictory process that has on one level led to the homogenization of culturally specific storylines while simultaneously facilitating the development of new avenues for international ventures The author explains how federal and regional network considerations funding guidelines and partnerships with international co producers affect the capacity of Canadian television producers to negotiate culturally specific storylines in the development process She further interrogates the concepts of globalization culture and national identity and their relationship to broadcasting from the perspectives of members of the television industry themselves highlighting the extent to which industry practices in Vancouver epitomize current trends in global television production On Location fills a major gap in contemporary media and cultural studies debates that question the connections between the politics of place culture and commerce within the larger context of cultural globalization

Puerto Rico Nancy Morris,1995-10-30 This book uses historical and interview data to trace the development of Puerto Rican identity in the 20th century It analyzes how and why Puerto Ricans have maintained a clear sense of distinctiveness in the face of direct and indirect pressures on their identity After gaining sovereignty over Puerto Rico from Spain in 1898 the United States undertook a sustained campaign to Americanize the island Despite 50 years of active Americanization and another 40 years of continued United States sovereignty over the island Puerto Ricans retain a sense of themselves as distinctly and proudly Puerto Rican This study examines the symbols of Puerto Rican identity and their use in the complex politics of the island It shows that identity is dynamic it is experienced differently by individuals across Puerto Rican society and that the key symbols of Puerto Rican identity have not remained static over time Through the study of Puerto Rico the book investigates and challenges the widely heard argument that the inevitable result of the export of U S mass media and consumer culture throughout the world is the weakening of cultural identities in receiving societies The book develops the idea that external pressure on collective identity may strengthen that identity rather than as is often assumed diminish it

Critical Studies in Media Commercialism Robin Andersen,Lance Strate,2000 Intense commercialism has been a perennial hallmark of the mass media ever since its inception and throughout the twentieth century the techniques and strategies of the dominant players in the world of media and advertising have become increasingly sophisticated with the development of multinational media corporations and electronic media opportunities Developments have been so rapid that scholars are only now beginning to come to terms with the full impact of media commercialization as a global phenomenon cutting across traditional cultural economic and social boundaries Critical Studies in Media Commercialism brings together an impressive collection of essays that explore the growing complexity range and reach of media commercialism in today s world From the corporate conglomeration of today s media giants to the effects of advertising on politics society and the individual this collection provides a comprehensive and insightful critique of both the impact and the limits of media commercialism in the modern world

Film Policy Albert Moran,2005-08-18 Film Policy is the first comprehensive overview of the workings of the international film industry The authors examine film cultures and film policy across the world explaining why Hollywood cinema dominates the global film market and the effects of the rise of television and video on the international industry In a series of case studies drawn from North America Europe Latin America Asia and Australia the authors explore the relationship between Hollywood cinema product and national film cultures and trace the development of international and national film policies looking at issues of financing regulation protectionism and censorship
