Social Space And Governance In Urban China:

Social Space and Governance in Urban China David Bray, 2022 Centered on the urban workplace the danwei workunit has been the fundamental social and spatial unit of urban China under socialism Not only was it the source of employment wages and other material benefits for the vast majority of urban residents it was also the institution through which the urban population was housed organized regulated policed educated trained protected and surveyed Furthermore as the basic unit of urban society each danwei became a community providing its members with identity a face and social belonging With particular focus on the link between spatial forms and social organization this book traces the origins and development of this critical institution up to the present day Recent economic restructuring has seen the danwei lose its dominant role yet its presence still influences the possibilities for urban transformation Moreover the author argues the new institutions emerging in its place display important characteristics of the old danwei system The Politics of Community Building in Urban China Thomas Heberer, Christian Göbel, 2011-03-29 This book aims to make sense of the recent reform of neighbourhood institutions in urban China It builds on the observation that the late 1990s saw a comeback of the state in urban China after the increased economization of life in the 1980s had initially forced it to withdraw Based on several months of fieldwork in locations ranging from poor and dilapidated neighbourhoods in Shenyang City to middle class gated communities in Shenzhen the authors analyze recent attempts by the central government to enhance stability in China's increasingly volatile cities In particular they argue that the central government has begun to restructure urban neighbourhoods and has encouraged residents to govern themselves by means of democratic procedures Heberer and Göbel also contend that whilst on the one hand the central government has managed to bring the Party state back into urban society especially by tapping into a range of social groups that depend on it it has not however managed to establish a broad base for participation In testing this hypothesis the book examines the rationales strategies and impacts of this comeback by systematically analyzing how the reorganization of neighbourhood committees was actually conducted and find that opportunities for participation were far more limited than initially promised The book will be of interest to students and scholars of Chinese Studies Development Studies Urban Studies and Asian Studies in general China's Urban Communities Peter G. Rowe, Ann Forsyth, Har Ye Kan, 2016-06-06 Cities in China are extremely dynamic and experience high pressure to grow transform and adapt But in what directions on what basis and to which goals The authors and their team have researched the intensive transformation processes of about twenty five neighborhood communities that were created in Beijing Shanghai Shenzhen and Suzhou in the last 30 years ranging from inner city to peripheral areas starting from planning and leading up to user satisfaction studies This in depth overview on neighborhood typology and development in China follows the book Emergent Architectural Territories in East Asian Cities by Peter Rowe who is among the world's best scholars on urban transformation in East Asia together with his colleagues Ann Forsyth and Har Ye Kan Governing

Neighborhoods in Urban China Beibei Tang, 2023-05-15 Governing Neighborhoods in Urban China examines the key mechanisms operating at the grassroots level in China that contribute to urban development and increased public support for the legitimacy and authority of the Chinese state Beibei Tang uncovers new trends and dynamics of urban neighborhood governance since the 2000s to reveal the significant factors that contribute to regime survival Tang introduces the concept of hybrid authoritarianism a governance mechanism an authoritarian state employs to produce governance legitimacy public support and regime sustainability Hybrid authoritarianism is situated in an intermediary governance space between state and society It accommodates both state and non state actors deals with a wide range of governance issues employs flexible governance strategies and in this context ultimately strengthens CCP leadership Tang documents processes of hybrid authoritarianism through her focus on various types of urban neighborhoods including new urban middle class neighborhoods and the increasing urbanization of the countryside Governing Neighborhoods in Urban China provides a conceptual framework that avoids scholarly approaches that tend to reify either one party autocracy or Western centric notions of democracy

China's Changing Welfare Mix Beatriz Carrillo, Jane Duckett, 2011-06-10 This book draws attention to two neglected areas in the growing body of research on welfare in China subnational variation and the changing mix of state and non state provision The contributors to this volume demonstrate the diversity of local welfare provision that lies behind broad national policies and programmes Their focus on local diversity is particularly relevant to understanding the welfare system in China because national state programmes are so often organized by local governments in line with the specifics of their economic and social development At the same time that social and economic development is itself independently creating an array of different conditions that shape non state family business and third sector welfare roles Through chapters that draw on original research in eight provinces the book adopts a local perspective to illustrate and explain some of the transformations that are under way and discuss not only local government initiatives and programmes but also the services and support provided by families informal social networks and community or third sector organizations as well as those delivered by private businesses on a commercial for profit basis This book will be of interest to students and scholars of Chinese society social policy and Chinese studies more widely Beatriz Carrillo is Lecturer in Asian Studies at the University of Technology Sydney Australia Jane Duckett is Professor of Chinese and Comparative Politics at the University of Glasgow UK

Handbook on Urban Development in China Ray Yep, June Wang, Thomas Johnson, 2019 The trajectory and logic of urban development in post Mao China have been shaped and defined by the contention between domestic and global capital central and local state and social actors of different class status and endowment This urban transformation process of historic proportion entails new rules for distribution and negotiation novel perceptions of citizenship as well as room for unprecedented spontaneity and creativity Based on original research by leading experts this book offers an updated and nuanced analysis of the new logic of urban governance and its implications

Politics in China William A. Joseph, 2019 On October 1 2019 the People s Republic of China PRC will celebrate the 70th anniversary of its founding And what an eventful and tumultuous seven decades it has been During that time under the leadership of the Chinese Communist Party CCP China has been transformed from one of world s poorest countries into one of its fastest growing economies and from a weak state barely able to govern or protect its own territory to a rising power that is challenging the United States for global influence But in the late 1950s the PRC experienced the most deadly famine in human history caused largely by the actions and inactions of its leaders Not long after there was a collapse of government authority that pushed the country to the brink of and in some places actually into civil war and anarchy And in 1989 the CCP unleashed the army to brutally crush demonstrations by students and others calling for political reform China is now for the most part peaceful prospering and proud The CCP maintains a firm grip on power through a combination of harsh repression and popular support largely based on its recent record of promoting rapid economic growth Yet the party and country face serious challenges on many fronts including a slowing economy environmental desecration pervasive corruption extreme inequalities ethnic unrest and a rising tide of social protest Politics in China provides an accessible yet authoritative introduction to how the world s most populous nation and rapidly rising global power is governed today The third edition has been extensively revised thoroughly updated and includes a new chapter on the internet and politics in China The book s chapters provide overviews of major periods in China s modern political history from the mid nineteenth century to the present examinations of key topics in contemporary Chinese politics and analyses of developments in four important areas located on China s geographic periphery Tibet

The End of the Village Nick R. Smith, 2021-06-08 How China's expansive new era of urbanization threatens to undermine the foundations of rural life Since the beginning of the twenty first century China has vastly expanded its urbanization processes in an effort to reduce the inequalities between urban and rural areas Centered on the mountainous region of Chongqing which serves as an experimental site for the country's new urban development policies The End of the Village analyzes the radical expansion of urbanization and its consequences for China's villagers It reveals a fundamental rewriting of the nation's social contract as villages that once organized rural life and guaranteed rural livelihoods are replaced by an increasingly urbanized landscape dominated by state institutions Throughout this comprehensive study of China's urban rural coordination policy Nick R Smith traces the diminishing autonomy of the country's rural populations and their subordination to larger urban networks and shared administrative structures Outside Chongqing's urban centers competing forces are at work in reshaping the social political and spatial organization of its villages While municipal planners and policy makers seek to extend state power structures beyond the boundaries of the city village leaders and inhabitants try to maintain control over their communities uncertain futures through strategies such as collectivization shareholding real estate development and migration As China seeks to rectify the development crises of previous decades through rapid urban growth such drastic transformations threaten to displace existing ways of life for more than 600 million residents Offering an unprecedented look at the country's contentious shift in urban planning and policy The End of the Village exposes the precarious future of rural life in China and suggests a critical reappraisal of how we think about urbanization

Suzhou in Transition Beibei Tang, Paul Cheung, 2020-11-11 Through the lens of the city of Suzhou this edited volume presents views on the complex interaction between the central state market agents local governments and individuals who have shaped the development of Chinese cities and urban life Featuring a range of disciplinary perspectives contributors to this volume have all undertaken research in one municipality Suzhou to consider how history and culture have evolved during the modernisation of Chinese cities and the transformation of urban space as well as shifting rural urban relations and urban life during the reform era The volume is underscored by a complex dynamic system consisting of three interlocked mechanisms through which the central and local state interact history and culture social and economic life and administration and governance As such chapters analyse responses both from the state and society as driving forces of local development with an interplay between tradition and heritage on the one hand and China's economic and social development on the other Suzhou in Transition will appeal to students and scholars of Chinese and urban studies as well as urban sociology and geography

Policing Cities Randy Lippert, Kevin Walby, 2013-07-18 Policing Cities brings together international scholars from numerous disciplines to examine urban policing securitization and regulation in nine countries and the conceptual issues these practices raise Chapters cover many of the world's major cities including New York Beijing Paris London Berlin Mexico City Johannesburg Rio de Janeiro Boston Melbourne and Toronto as well as other urban areas in Britain United States South Africa Germany Australia and Georgia The collection examines the activities and reforms of the traditional public police but also those of emerging public and private policing agents and spaces that fall outside the public police's purview and which previously have received little attention It explores dramatic changes in public policing arrangements and strategies exclusion of urban homeless people new forms of urban surveillance and legal regulation and securitization and militarization of urban spaces The core argument in the volume is that cities are more than mere background for policing securitization and regulation Policing and the city are intimately intertwined This collection also reveals commonalities in the empirical interests methodological preferences and theoretical concerns of scholars working in these various disciplines and breaks down barriers among them This is the first collection on urban policing regulation and securitization with such a multi disciplinary and international character This collection will have a wide readership among upper level undergraduate and graduate level students in several disciplines and countries and can be used in geography urban studies legal and socio legal studies sociology anthropology political science and criminology courses

Chinese Urbanism: Urban Form And Life In The Tang-song Dynasties Jing Xie, 2020-02-25 Since the 1990s the urban landscape of China has witnessed revolutionary changes that are unrivalled in any country of the world throughout history Rapid urbanization facilitated by the modern planning mechanism for growth provides a feast for property developers Yet associated urban problems such as housing affordability traffic congestion energy consumption and environmental deterioration are aggravated This book takes a historic approach to investigate the planning philosophy urban form and life of the past Through a detailed study of urban development from early times through the imperial period with a focus on the Tang Song dynasties this book attempts to articulate the good qualities of urban landscapes from the past that still have instructive value for modern practices The focus on the Tang Song period is not only because China was the most advanced civilization of its time but also because it underwent a similar process of urbanization evident by tremendous economic growth a dramatic rise of urban population and an extended building boom Through evaluating the streets city layout public places urban communities houses and gardens and using interdisciplinary research in urban planning urban design architecture history and cultural studies this book asserts that the past is quintessentially important The past not only truthfully records the course of social and cultural formation of urban community and its associated physical fabric but also regulates the directions we may take in the future

The Chinese Lifestyle Alfonso Sanchez-Romera, 2023-01-13 The research presented in this book explores the formation of the middle class in contemporary urban China Including case studies on middle class professionals living in Beijing this book analyses how social and economic changes to Chinese society create a middle class lifestyle and new forms of distinction with a particular focus on the social construction of identity Looking through the lens of individuals perception of life trajectories and ideological taxonomies generated within the framework of post Maoist China the book uncovers the role that the Chinese middle class play in a state sponsored discourse and where the distinctions identifying the middle class lifestyle produce inequality transfer privilege and disadvantage in contemporary urban China It goes on to question hegemonic discourses on class arguing that a middle class identity is progressively constructed in urban China not only through consumption practices but through the experience of non individualistic activities in both the public and private spheres Analyzing how social distinctions are performed contributes to the understanding of the Chinese middle class pre pandemic as well as the continual challenges this social group shall face in the years to come As such this is a must read for those interested in the Chinese middle class Chinese politics and gender studies
